Revenge for 1973 murders seen as motive

Machete-wielding terrorists threaten to behead captives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Machete-wielding terrorists held more than 100 hostages in three buildings today, threatening to chop off heads of captives unless they are allowed to exact revenge against Black Muslim leaders they blame for a mass murder four years ago.

Gunmen, all believed to be members of the tiny, predominantly black Hanafi Moslem sect, seized the headquarters of a Jewish social service organization, an Islamic mosque and the District of Columbia city hall.

During the takeover of city hall, a black reporter for a Washington radio station was killed and a city councilman was wounded.

Police surrounded the three buildings and tried to negotiate with the men who were armed with rifles, shotguns, automatic weapons and machetes.

But as the siege continued through the night police remained uncertain how many hostages were being held and how many terrorists were in the buildings.

The largest group of hostages was being held in the eighth-floor cafeteria of the B'nai B'rith headquarters, seven blocks north of the White House. An official of the Jewish service organization said he believed as many as 118 people were in the hands of the terrorists.

Another 14 hostages were being held at the Islamic Center on Washington's Embassy Row and seven were inside the District Building, located on Pennsylvania Avenue within sight of the White House grounds.

In a telephone conversation from the B'nai B'rith building were believed wounded.

In a telephone conversation from the B'nai B'rith building, one of the terrorists, Khalafi Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, was asked if he would hold out indefinitely. He told an Associated Press reporter, "Don't worry, when the heads start dropping out the window, then you worry."

Abdul Khaalis described himself as the leader of the Hanafi Moslems.

His son-in-law, Abdul Aziz, was contacted in the northwest Washington headquarters of the Hanafi Moslems where the murders took place four years ago. Abdul Aziz told reporters that if the demands of the terrorists were not met, "heads will be chopped off. A killing room will be set up at B'nai B'rith and heads will be thrown out of windows."

Mayor Walter Washington, who had been barricaded in his city hall office for several hours early in the takeover but later escaped the building, said early today that foreign diplomats were involved in discussions with the Hanafi gunmen.

Abdul Khaalis denied any knowledge of such negotiations.

Revenge for the brutal 1973 murders of seven Hanafis, six of whom were Abdul Khaalis' children, appeared to be the principal motive for the sudden invasion of the three buildings late Wednesday morning. Five Philadelphia Black Muslims were convicted of the 1973 slayings and each was sentenced to 140 years in prison.

In telephone conversations with newsmen, Abdul Khaalis blamed Black Muslim leaders, including heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali, for the slayings of his children and demanded that authorities turn the Muslims over to him. In addition to Ali, he listed as Muslim leaders Wallace D. Muhammad, now head of the movement; his brother, Herbert Muhammad, and former Philadelphia Muslim leader Jeremiah Muslim Shabazz.

Other demands made by Abdul Khaalis during the telephone conversations were: —That authorities turn over the murderers of Malcolm X, who like Khaalis was a member of the Black Muslims before breaking with them.

—The return of a $750 fine assessed against him for shouting at the Muslim defendants during their trial for the 1973 Hanafi murders. Police returned the money Wednesday night.

—A halt to the screening of the movie "Muhammad, Messenger of God," which was scheduled for its American premiere on Wednesday in New York and Los Angeles. The distributor immediately stopped the film in mid-screening after learning of Abdul Khaalis' demand. Abdul Khaalis said the film was "a fairy tale" that demeaned and distorted the Islamic faith, although few other Moslems have objected to it.

In Chicago, Wallace Muhammad denied responsibility for the 1973 Hanafi slayings and said he deplored Wednesday's violence.

Four to six gunmen, including Khaalis, stormed the B'nai B'rith headquarters around 11 a.m., wounding eight persons and herding 100 or more hostages onto the top floor of the eight-story building. Police said 43 persons either were released or escaped the terrorists by hiding.

Of the wounded, two were hospitalized overnight, three were treated and released, and three still were being held by the terrorists. The condition of the wounded hostages was not known.

An hour after the first invasion, up to three more gunmen took the Islamic Center on Embassy Row, apparently without violence or injury. They retained 14 hostages, including center director Dr. Abdul Rauf, the city's highest-ranking Moslem.

One of the gunmen told a reporter by telephone that their actions were coordinated with Khaalis' group, and that "heads will roll" unless demands are met.

At 2:30 in the afternoon two more gunmen opened fire on the fifth floor of the District Building, where Mayor Walter Washington and the city council were at work.

They killed Maurice Williams, 24, an employee of WHUR-FM. City Councilman Marion Barry was wounded in the chest by a ricochet bullet, and two security guards were wounded, one critically. A fourth man, identified only as a building guard, lay motionless for hours under the guns of the invaders and was thought to be dead, but rescuers found him alive when they evacuated him. His condition was not known.

President Carter ordered the FBI onto the case in midafternoon, and director Clarence Kelley and Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell shuttled to and from police headquarters during the night.

Police said all three groups appeared to be in communication by telephone, although they could not say with certainty that the city hall group was related to the others. However, the city hall gunmen made no independent demands.

Abdul Khaalis told reporters that the city hall gunmen were part of his group.

Officials said they were negotiating with the terrorists but they would not describe the discussions. There were reports that Dr. Rauf had asked diplomats from Moslem countries to intercede, and that this was being done.

Abdul Khaalis was born Ernest McGhee in Gary, Ind.

The Hanafi Moslems are a small mostly black group never before blamed for violence in the United States. They number perhaps 1,000 and consider themselves the only true followers of Islam. They are not part of the Black Muslims, a much larger organization.

Coffee Break . . .

THE APPEALS court dismissal in the impeachment suit against Bloomington Mayor Max E. Grim was not the fault of the Fayette County Common Pleas Court reporter as implied in Wednesday's Record-Herald.

According to Judge Evelyn Coffman, the plaintiffs' attorney in the case, John C. Young, was notified that a transcript needed by the appeals court would be finished Jan. 21. He was also reminded to check the time limit and if necessary request an extension of time. Young failed to request an extension of time and the case was dismissed.

DECORATIONS on graves in the Fairview Cemetery, Jeffersonville, should be removed by March 23 when the annual spring clean-up project will begin.

Republican Party restoration urged

By CINDI PEARCE
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Revitalization of the Republican Party was stressed at the 37th annual Lincoln Day dinner Wednesday night in the Mahan Building.

Charles F. Kurfess, minority leader of the Ohio House of Representatives, stressed to the nearly 200 persons in attendance that there is an urgent need for revitalization of the Republican Party on both the local and national levels.

"The strength of all political parties is down," said Rep. Kurfess who was elected to his tenth consecutive term in 1974 to represent the 83rd House District. "The parties, more than ever before, are dependent upon their candidates because people are voting for candidates, not for the party. Our appeal must be broadened."

Rep. Kurfess continued, "We learned something from the last (November) election. We learned that it wasn't an issue oriented election. Here in Ohio we learned that President Ford lost because we didn't do the work and get out the vote as we had to do. We must revitalize our efforts."

Looking toward the future, Rep. Kurfess stated, "We can't underestimate the importance of the 1978 elections. They are important because we lost so much in 1976. As we think about 1978, we must not overlook the local elections of 1977. The 1977 elections are darned important to the Republican party. How well we can do in '78 may be determined in large part by the '77 elections," he said during the event sponsored by the Fayette County Republican Women's Club.

The former speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, pointed out the importance of having "outstanding community leaders" in the posts of precinct and ward leaders. "We (Republicans) are the party of sound governmental principles, good stewardship of the government and of the taxpayer's money. We're concerned about individuals. We are a party of affirmative action; the party of Lincoln; the party that freed the slaves. The challenge still remains to make the people of this nation one people without racial strife."

Perturbed with the "interesting record" of House Democrats, Rep. Kurfess remarked, "In 1975, Gov. Rhodes came to office one week after the Democrats took control of the General Assembly. During that seven day period, the Democrats rushed through six bills, all of which were okayed by Gilligan."

He continued, "This year, the Democrat assembly came into session at the height of the energy crisis. The only thing we accomplished during this time was to pass a resolution which stated that Jim Rhodes is right. We've got to turn down our thermostats." Inserting several amusing anecdotes and jokes into his speech, Rep. Kurfess said, "Christopher Columbus must have been the first Democrat. When he started out on his journey, he didn't know where he was going; when he got there, he didn't know where he was; when he got home, he didn't know where he'd been and he did it all on someone else's money."

A delegate-at-large from Ohio to the Republican National Convention in 1968 and 1972, Rep. Kurfess discussed collective bargaining, saying, "When

Saccharin banned by FDA regulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diabetics and others who can't eat sugar might be able to get saccharin as a prescription drug after the proposed federal ban on the artificial sweetener goes into effect.

The Food and Drug Administration announced the ban on saccharin Wednesday, citing a Canadian study that found large doses of the sweetener caused cancer in laboratory rats.

Canada simultaneously banned saccharin.

The FDA said it would take at least 120 days to put the ban into effect, but it called on manufacturers "to discontinue use of saccharin as soon as possible."

In announcing the ban, the FDA said it would consider allowing some limited use of saccharin to continue because no substitutes for it would be available in the near future.

But Acting FDA Commissioner Sherwin Gardner said any decision on the prescription approach was still months away.

Canada said those on restricted diets will be able to buy pure saccharin only in drug stores after Sept. 1.

Diet soft drinks account for three-quarters of the five million pounds of saccharin used yearly in the United States. A spokesman for the National Soft Drink Association said the industry would try to develop new low-calorie beverages without saccharin.

The Coca-Cola Co. said it regretted the FDA's action, but would comply with the request to discontinue saccharin use as soon as possible.

"We will have reformulated low calorie drinks ready for the market"

Public forum proposal nixed

City water problems continue

With the temperature outside a balmy 50 degrees, frozen water pipes created some heat at Wednesday night's Washington C.H. City Council meeting.

Despite the spring-like temperatures, several Washington C.H. residents are reportedly still without water service due to frozen underground pipes. Council member Richard Kimmet wanted to know if the city could help remedy the problem.

Kimmet stated that there is "a little old lady in Washington C.H." who has been without water since Feb. 9.

He added that the woman is on a fixed income and draws a low Social Security payment. Last month when her water pipes first became frozen, she was reportedly told by the local water company to hire a welder to thaw the pipes, Kimmet said.

The pipes were thawed by the welder and the woman was charged $20. However, her pipes quickly refroze, according to Kimmet. He stated that the woman has been without water ever since.

Continuing with the woman's plight, Kimmet said that it will cost her $210 to have water service restored. He also said that she was told "the payment of the money in advance would somehow speed things up."

Following Kimmet's story, Council member James Ward made a motion to invite a representative of the Ohio Water Service Co. to the next City Council meeting.

Ward suggested that the water company spokesman could present his side of the problem and interested citizen's could attend to ask questions.

"This thing (complaints about water service) is mushrooming," Ward said, adding that there are two sides to every story and it should be brought out in the open.

Kimmet seconded the motion with "the safety and welfare of the citizens in mind."

Other members of City Council did not feel the proposed meeting would be such a good idea.

"I don't think a City Council meeting is a place for a public forum," Council member John Morris said. He added that Council should obtain legal advice from City Solicitor Gary D. Smith before making such a move.

Council chairman Bertha

McCullough expressed concern that the present Council meeting place, the basement of the Carnegie Public Library, would not be large enough to hold city residents concerned with the water service. She suggested that a public meeting not a Council meeting, could be held possibly at the Washington C.H. Fire Department.

Ward reminded Council that his motion to have a representative of the water company attend the next meeting had been seconded and should be voted upon.

Ward, Kimmet, and Billie Wilson voted in favor of the motion. Council members Ralph Cook, Joseph O'Brien, and Morris voted against the proposal, leaving the decision up to Mrs. McCullough, who had the final vote. She voted no and the motion failed.

Council members agreed that there was a problem with frozen water pipes and many residents were concerned. It was decided to bring up the problem at

Personnel matters occupy city solons

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald City Editor

After covering a light agenda Wednesday night, the Washington C.H. City Council recessed into executive session to discuss personnel matters.

Although executive sessions are private meetings, a group of Washington C.H. firemen shed some light on what Council was discussing behind closed doors when they attended Wednesday night's regular meeting at the Carnegie Public Library.

Cecil Seaman, president of the local International Association of Firefighters Union, told Council that he had sent a letter to City Manager George H. Shapter requesting that the fire department be given a chance to review any personnel policies before being approved by Council.

Seaman added that he had received no reply from Shapter on the matter. Council member James Ward, who is the next Council meeting after the city solicitor had a chance to study the city's tariffs with the water company.

Although the motion to invite a water company spokesman to the next Council meeting was voted down Wednesday night, the water company would apparently not be opposed to such a meeting.

"We have done this in the past to discuss various problems," Jack Lago, assistant manager of the local office of the Ohio Water Service Co., said Thursday.

"If the city requested, we would attend the meeting and offer our opinions and answer general questions," Lago said. He added that the meeting would have to be an informative one and not a question and answer session.

He said general questions from City Council could be answered, but it would be too time-consuming to answer all the questions from individual citizens at the meeting.

chairman of Council's personnel committee, assured Seaman that once a draft of personnel policies is finalized by Council, copies will be sent to the heads of various city departments for inspection. After the draft is inspected and any revisions are made, the written policy will go to Council for final approval.

Council chairman Bertha McCullough disclosed Thursday that the executive session was held Wednesday to review rules and procedures for city personnel.

She said Council was attempting to put into written form "what we expect out of personnel." She said such policies as sick leave and vacations are also being discussed. However, possible salary increases for city employees have not been discussed. This will be brought up at a later date, ac-

Dynamite blast probe continues

CAREY, Ohio (AP) — The explosion of 20 tons of dynamite near this village shook northwest Ohio, popped nails from walls in a deputy sheriff's bedroom and caused property damage up to 20 miles from the rural scene.

No one was injured. But houses, barns and businesses were damaged, mostly in a northeasterly direction from the rural site 1½ miles northeast of the village of 3,500 persons.

Sheriff Mark R. Kauble of Wyandot County said the dynamite owned by a stone quarry "was detonated by someone who had knowledge of explosives." He said there were no suspects in the Wednesday predawn blast but that his staff followed up reports from persons who claimed to have knowledge of the explosion.

"We're not pointing a finger at anybody," Kauble said. "But if it was done by someone locally we might have an arrest in a couple of days."

"The scene evidence indicates it was intentionally detonated and virtually eliminates the possibility of an accident."

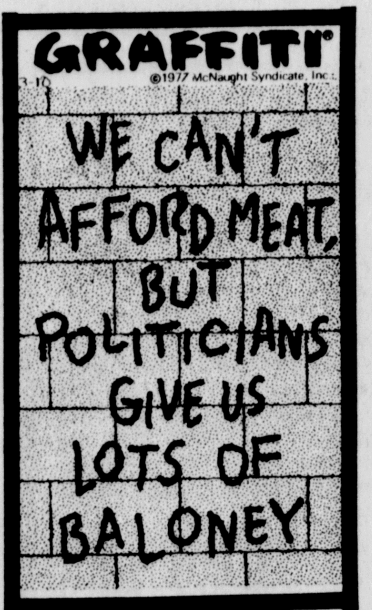

Kauble declined to discuss the evidence.

"Dad said he at first thought it was an earthquake," said Bill Lindsay, 34, who rushed here from Defiance, Ohio, 40 miles away, when his father called. "I think that clump of trees between us and the dynamite was the only thing that kept it from leveling their home. 'All the windows are gone and the second floor of the house is shifted."

"I thought at first it was going to be a tornado," said John Greer, 73, who lives near the Lindsays. "But I looked out and saw a clear sky and I didn't know what it was." Greer's barn was moved on its foundation and its doors blown off. Glass littered the bed where Greer and his wife had been sleeping.

Both live a half-mile from the explosion of what Kauble estimated was 40,000-50,000 pounds of dynamite stred in a munitions-like magazine by the National Stone and Lime Quarry. Ray Brandon, director of safety for the quarry, declined to estimate the quantity of dynamite that went up but said "It was in the thousands of pounds."

Opinion And Comment

Loans for weatherizing

The National Rural Electric Cooperative Association came up with a good idea: a new federal loan program to finance rural home improvements designed to cut use of energy. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has seized upon the idea and set up such a program, which he says may be operational within a month and a half to two months. The concept is sound. Under the Farmers Home Administration, rural dwellers will be able to obtain small loans - on the order of $500 - for weatherizing their homes. The loans will be repayable over a five-year period. Meanwhile, both the borrowers and the nation generally will benefit: heating and air conditioning bills will be reduced, energy will be saved. There are good arguments in favor of a similar program for urban as well as rural homeowners.

THESE DAYS...By John Chamberlain

Who can speak for Canada?

When Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada visited President Jimmy Carter in the White House, one of the topics that was touched upon was the prospect of building a gas pipeline across Canada from the Alaskan North Slope to the northern part of the continental U.S.

But who can speak for Canada when it comes to problems that involve the country as a whole? Certainly not the Canadian Prime Minister.

Trudeau has been having his troubles with the French-speaking province of Quebec, where the separatist Parti Quebecois now rules. Stung by his inability to impose the rule of Ottawa on his own 10 provinces, Trudeau spoke in Washington of the need to replace the provisions of the British North American Act of 1867, which gives the provincial legislatures the power to run their own affairs.

Since the provinces make their own interpretations of citizens' rights, particularly in regard to taxation and property ownership, the central government can't really make a foreign policy decision involving such things as gas pipelines.

The problem of Quebec separatism is only one facet of a general problem that stands in the way of any Canadian national planning that might involve an agreement with the U.S. on such topics as gas transport.

To begin with, in three out of the four western provinces of Canada that border the U.S. the socialists of the New Democratic Party left-wing contend with the frequently outnumbered free marketers for control of basic economic resources. In Saskatchewan, the government has "nationalized" - i.e., provincialized - the potash mining industry. In Manitoba, international forest products companies have had to contend with the local urge to oust the foreigner. And in British Columbia, the voters have only recently put an end to three years of socialist experimentation that had the forest and mining industries on the ropes.

Only in Alberta, where there has been a genuine need for the oil expertise provided by visiting Texans, have the claims of freedom been honored.

To build a pipeline connecting the Alaskan North Slope gas deposits with the U.S. "lower 48" would be quite feasible from a technical point of view. It would also be possible to link northern Alaska with the U.S. by rail, as was suggested some time ago by John G. Kneeling, a consulting engineer, in Trains Magazine. The new "integral" tank cars would have been a plausible alternative to the pipeline that now connects the North Slope with the warm-water port of Valdez on the Pacific. Conceivably, liquid gas could be moved by train as well as oil.

But no matter what mode of transportation is suggested, the enterpriser who would connect Alaskan oil fields with the north central U.S. would have to reckon with provincial governments that make their own "foreign policy" economic decisions.

The extremes to which Canadian provinces can go have been devastatingly outlined in a sobering book by a British Columbia journalist, Paul Humes, called "Power Without Glory: The Rise and Fall of the NDP Government in British Columbia." In a three-year socialist interlude the British Columbia New Democratic Party of Premier David Barrett, a doctrinaire "nationalizer" (i.e., provincializer), did just about everything to make it impossible for automobile insurance agencies, farmers, lumber companies and mining prospectors to gain the natural rewards of their own enterprise.

Mineral exploration in British Columbia virtually came to a standstill with the passage of a Mineral Royalties Act in 1974 that sent prospectors north to the Yukon territory, where there was still a possibility of making a profitable strike. The state of Washington, which had been getting natural gas from British Columbia, suddenly discovered that its old contracts weren't worth very much.

Depression has recently brought British Columbians to their senses. But the tide of socialism still runs strong in western Canada. A gas pipeline across Canada to the U.S. would be an open invitation to punitive taxation.

By TOM DIEMER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Whether a new mental health commission proves to be just another layer of bureaucracy or an "action oriented" agency will depend largely on an imported, 33-year-old professional in the social services field.

Vincent D. Pettinelli, former deputy commissioner for mental retardation in Pennsylvania, was named recently executive director of the Joint Mental Health and Mental Retardation Commission, a $31,500 a year post.

Pettinelli is responsible to a 13-member commission, appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes and legislative leaders last year to monitor the job being done by the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

"For a long time, Ohio has not been as progressive as it could have been," Pettinelli says. "I see Ohio taking a giant leap forward in playing catchup ball with some of the other states."

Pettinelli views the commission's role as that of a "catalyst to the department" and he plans to send staff members all over the state, visiting the various institutions.

"We're not interested in hiring theoreticians and we're not interested in hiring academicians," he said when asked about the kind of personnel he would recruit. "You can't find out what's going on by sitting in Columbus."

Dr. Timothy Moritz, director of the state department that will come under scrutiny, welcomed the commission.

"We see this not as a threat to the department, not as an adversary, but as additional eyes, ears and minds to help us get the job done," Moritz said at a joint news conference with Pettinelli.

Before his tour with state government in Pennsylvania, Pettinelli served as director of regional services for the South Carolina Department of Mental Retardation and director of education for the Mental Health Association in Houston.

He received an undergraduate degree from the University of St. Thomas in Houston and a master's in social work from Tulane University.

Pettinelli underwent postgraduate training at the Center for Developmental and Learning Disorders at the University of Alabama in Birmingham and taught social work at Temple University and the University of South Carolina. His wife is a social worker.

Pettinelli will operate on a budget of about $500,000 a year, he said, and plans to hire a staff of 25 to 30. He was chosen from among 500 applicants, according to Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Garfield Heights, sponsor of the legislation that created the commission.

Charles Dickens, commenting adversely on his visit to Upper Sandusky in 1842, wrote that he and his wife "spent a troubled night in a large ghostly room with doors that lacked fastening, both opening on the wild country whenever the wind blew." -AP

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Lifer wants to donate kidney

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old man who is in Rutland, Vt., doing 30 years to life for second degree murder. I killed a 15-year-old girl. No reason. I just went off my rocker.

Now the problem: I read in your column that a lot of people need kidneys. I know that kidneys have been transplanted successfully, and I want you to put me in touch with someone who needs one so I can donate one of mine. I don't mean after I'm dead. I mean right now. I know a person can live with only one kidney so if I could give one of mine now maybe I could sleep better.

I realize I can't bring back that poor little girl whose life I took, but I could give some other person life. It won't balance the scales, but it would give some meaning to my life, which is practically useless now.

This letter was not written in haste. I've thought about it for a long time. I'm not very religious, but God knows this is a sincere request. Can you help me get it granted, Abby?

GEORGE H.
DEAR GEORGE: I don't know the laws covering such a donation, but if you're sincere (and I believe you are) tell the chaplain of the correctional institution what you've told me, and he will advise you. God bless.

DEAR ABBY: A friend has asked me to play "Dear Abby" and mediate a fuss between her and her husband, and I honestly don't know what to tell her. It seems that her husband is bugged because she is always doing knitting, needlepoint or some kind of hand work when they're watching TV or just visiting.

He says she has all day to do whatever she wants, and when he comes home, she should give him her undivided attention. He wants her to look at him while they're conversing. She says she can hear every word he says, and she DOES look at him almost constantly, so he has no legitimate beef.

I can see his point, Abby, but I can also see hers. Do you think he has the right to ask her to quit doing needlework in his face? And should she just to please him?

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: He hasn't the right to ask her to quit. Handiwork for many (men as well as women) is therapeutic. It's relaxing and relieves tension. Tell her I said she should stick to her needlework - but look up a little more.

DEAR ABBY: I have a small but annoying problem I need help with. It seems that whenever I telephone a friend I haven't spoken to for some time, his or her first words are something like, "Well, I don't believe I am actually hearing from you," or, "My goodness, I thought you dropped off the edge of the earth, etc." (I'm sure you get the idea, Abby.)

It irks me to be put down with such a negative reception, when I have finally taken the initiative and called someone, as though it were MY obligation to do so.

It's the same kind of guilt some elderly folks or shut-ins lay on those who haven't been around to see them for a while. In other words, how does one cope with people who make you feel guilty? IRKED

DEAR IRKED: No one can make you feel "guilty" unless you've earned the guilt. (Irritated, put down and even outraged perhaps, but not guilty.) There's no way to prevent others from needing you. Develop a tougher side.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, March 10, the 69th day of 1977. There are 296 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1876, the first clear telephone call was made when Alexander Graham Bell summoned his assistant from another room in Bell's house in Boston, saying: "Come here, Watson. I want you."

On this date:
In 1785, Thomas Jefferson was named the U.S. minister to France, succeeding Benjamin Franklin.

In 1848, the U.S. Senate ratified a treaty ending the Mexican War.

In 1864, Ulysses Grant was named Commander in Chief of Union forces in the Civil War.

In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Lendlease Act, providing for transfer of military equipment to the Allies in World War II.

Ten years ago: It was reported that Joseph Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Stalin, had defected from the Soviet Union and was seeking asylum in a European country.

Five years ago: Premier Lon Nol of Cambodia seized complete power as head of state and nullified the country's nearly completed constitution.

One year ago: Former President Richard M. Nixon said that public disclosure in 1969 of the secret U.S. bombing of Cambodia had forced him to ground the planes and had cost countless American lives.

Today's birthday: Queen Elizabeth's fourth child, Prince Edward, is 13.

Thought for today: Revenge is always the weak pleasure of a little and narrow mind. - Juvenal, Roman lawyer and satirist, about 60 to 140 AD.

Service Notes

Army Private Patrick E. Brundage, whose wife, Clare, and mother, Mrs. Betty Smith, live at 5771 Ohio 734, Jeffersonville, Ohio, completed a power generator course at the U.S. Army Engineer School, Ft. Belvoir, Va. The course is designed to train personnel in the operation and maintenance of motor and diesel driven generator sets.

The private entered the Army in September, 1976.

His father, Ray Brundage, lives at 321 Jeffery St., Mexico, Mo.

Marine Corporal Kenneth E. Smith, son of Lawrence Smith of Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, has departed for an extended deployment in the Western Pacific.

He is serving as a member of Battalion Landing Team One Slant Nine (BLT 1-9), homebased on Okinawa, Japan.

His unit is the ground element of a Marine Amphibious Unit (MAU). A MAU is the force-in-readiness for the U.S. Seventh Fleet; on-call to project combined air-ground forces ashore, if required.

During this cruise, BLT 1-9 is scheduled to conduct training exercises in the Republic of the Philippines and in Japan.

He joined the Marine Corps in August 1973.

Marine Lance Corporal David A. Brumfield, son of James C. Brumfield, New Holland, participated in exercise "Palm Tree 1-77" in the California desert.

He was serving as a member of Battalion Landing Team Two Slant Six of the 2d Marine Division.

His unit was airlifted from its camp Lejeune, N.C., homebase to the Marine Corps Air-Ground Combat Training Center at Twenty-nine Palms, Calif., for the exercise. "Palm Tree 1-77" was designed to test the capability of a battalion landing to deploy by strategic airlift and to provide realistic live-fire training. The exercise stressed coordinated air and artillery fire support for infantry units.

He joined the Marine Corps in March 1975.

Marine Lance Corporal Dwight A. Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Gardner of 4008 Washington-Waterloo Road, has departed for an extended deployment in the Western Pacific.

He is serving as a member of Battalion Landing Team One Slant Nine (BLT 1-9), homebased on Okinawa, Japan.

Annual Charity Ball planned

Beta Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Patti Everhart. Mrs. Ralph Leeds led the opening ritual. Plans were discussed for the joint meeting with Alpha Theta, Monday, March 21 at the home of Mrs. Lester Bower. Preparations will be finalized for the Annual Charity Ball, April 16 to be held at the Mahan Building.

While reading the Band Contract, Mrs. Leeds informed the group that the band previously known as "Bandions" is now known as "Chalice". Tickets may be purchased from any member of Beta Omega or Alpha Theta for $8. per couple after March 21. Mrs. Everhart has assumed chairmanship of the dance.

Arrangements for Daffodil Days supporting the Cancer Society which is scheduled for April 1 and 2, were discussed. Volunteers were sought for the pre-sale and delivery of daffodils and checking the selling stations April 1 and 2 which will be operated by the Camp Fire Girls.

Having an Easter Bake Sale April 8, as a pledge project was discussed and approved. The members also decided to make favors for the Awards Banquet at the April business meeting. After adjourning the meeting, Mrs. William Autrey shared her talent of making burlap flowers and each member present created a burlap flower plaque. Mrs. Everhart served refreshments to Mrs. Leeds, Mrs. Autrey, Mrs. Harry Haines, Mrs. Jim McCracken and Mrs. Wayne Clark.

Father Petry CCL speaker

The regular monthly meeting of the Progressive Heirs Child Conservation League was held in the home of Mrs. Stephen Huffman.

Guest speaker Father David E. Petry of the Saint Colman Catholic Church spoke to the group on the spiritual development of children.

After refreshments were served by Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Roger Merritt, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Fred Doyle, president. There was an unanimous vote by the members to donate to the 1977 Junior Fair award program. Ideas for a fund-raising project were discussed, and final plans will be made at the April meeting.

President Doyle announced the selection of a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers for 1977-78. Also she noted that the CCL Spring Conference will be held May 7 at Scarlet Oaks Vocational School, Cincinnati, and for members to be thinking of ideas for the June meeting to entertain the children.

Those attending were Mrs. Neal Brady, Mrs. Willard Coil, Mrs. Gordon McCarty, Mrs. Roger Merritt, Mrs. Stephen Huffman, Mrs. Fred Doyle, and Mrs. Roger Snyder.

Homemakers tour shop

Eleven members of the Sunny-East Belles Homemakers assembled in the home of Mrs. Willard Greer for a carry-in supper and meeting Tuesday evening. Mrs. Robert Climer was assisting hostess. The table was centered with a St. Patrick Day motif, with matching appointments.

A brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Donald Belles. It was announced that Mrs. Dwight Foy will be hostess for the April meeting, assisted by Mrs. Larry Gilmore and Mrs. Robert W. Fries. The meeting will feature a silent auction. The place of the meeting will be announced later.

The group then motored to the Sew Shop, where they were informed of the new spring knit fabrics, various types of knits, etc by Mr. John Pursell, owner and manager of the shop.

Officers of the club are: President — Mrs. Foy; vice president — Mrs. Sheldon Grubb; secretary — Mrs. Roy Yahn; treasurer — Mrs. Belles; and program — Mrs. Fries.

Meetings are held monthly, the second Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Those present were Mrs. Belles, Mrs. Ronald Burns, Mrs. Chester Clay, Mrs. Climer, Mrs. Clyde Estle, Mrs. Marie Estle, Mrs. Fries, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Greer, Mrs. Vada Moats and Mrs. Yahn.

Auxiliary plans bake sale

The first meeting of the Firemen's Ladies Auxiliary was held in the home of Mrs. Jay Smith. Mrs. Smith led devotions and Mrs. Connie Gault presented the treasurer's report.

It was decided to hold the annual Easter bake sale on April 9, at Murphy Mart, Washington Square. On May 6 and 7, the Auxiliary will sponsor a concession stand at the Sheep Show at the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

On March 31, members will meet at the home of Mrs. Ruth Cox to make posters. Mrs. Bertha Terry will be hostess for the next meeting April 25.

Present were Mrs. Gault, Mrs. Becky Seaman, Mrs. Blanche Michael, Mrs. Marilyn Severs, Mrs. Millie Helt, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Doris Smith, Mrs. Terry, Mrs. Pam Keller and Mrs. Smith.

Marriage vows exchanged in Bloomingburg Church

Miss Faith Ann Dawes and Carl Michael Cottrill were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony in the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Vernon, 1101 Columbus Ave., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cottrill, 588 Bush Rd.

The Rev. Gerald Wheat officiated for the ceremony before two seven-branch candelabra and two bouquets of pink, blue and white roses, with carnations flanking the altar. Pink lighted tapers encircled with greenery were placed in the windows of the sanctuary.

Miss Sharon Cory, pianist, played O Perfect Love, Always, Because, Theme from Love Story, Theme from Romeo and Juliet, We've Only Just Begun, To a Wild Rose, I Love Thee and Be Thou Mine.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza with exquisite floral lace highlighting the bodice. Delicate white cotton lace and seed pearls traced the demure neckline, and long, sheer sleeves. The long, A-line skirt curved into a sweeping chapel train. Her chapel-length veil was of nylon illusion on a Camelot cap covered with sheer polyester, and trimmed with seed pearls and matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white, pink roses, blue and white carnations and baby's breath, tied with satin streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Mildred Dawes, maid of honor, wore a floor-length pin, floral cotton polyester gown featuring an empire waistline and short cape sleeves. She also wore baby's breath in her hair and carried long stemmed pink rosebuds tied with blue streamers.

Miss Roberta Jo Cottrill, sister of the groom, and Miss Lisa Garringer, cousin of the groom, were the bridesmaids. They wore blue, floral floor-length gowns with empire waists and long butterfly sleeves edged with white lace. They wore baby's breath in their hair and carried long-stemmed pink rosebuds tied with matching streamers.

Jamie Leeth was the flower girl. She wore a long silkganza gown with pink bodice and white lace bib edged with pink velvet bow and streamers. Her white lace skirt came to points on the edge of the two overskirts. She had flowers in her hair and carried a basket of pink and white roses and pink and blue carnations with ribbon streamers.

Mike McDonald of Orlando, Fla. served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Kevin Ramey and Ray Crocker.

Mrs. Vernon chose for her daughter's wedding a long vanilla knit gown with matching jacket, with accessories of red. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. The groom's mother wore a jade floor length skirtwaist gown featuring long sheer sleeves and knife-pleated skirt. She had pearl colored accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The grandmothers wore pink carnation corsages.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the church. Hostesses were Susan Pavey, Tonda Coulter, Sally Leeth and Cherry Johnson. The serving table was covered with lace, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with bride and groom figurines, and encircled with greenery. Pink roses were on each tier of the cake. Mints, in the shape of blue and pink flowers, and punch served from a crystal punch bowl, completed the setting. George Dawes brother of the bride, presided at the guest book.

The new Mrs. Cottrill, a graduate of Washington Senior High School, is employed as a cashier. Her husband, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, is engaged in farming. They are living at Prairie Knox.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cottrill were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Rendezvous Room, and following the wedding they were also hosts at a buffet supper held in their home for members of the families and their guests. Assisting them were Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Dawson and Mrs. Donald Anderson.

Out-of-town guests came from Columbus, Shelby, New Holland, Williamsport, Vandalia and Cincinnati.

Antique bottle show is set

The Jefferson County Antique Bottle Club will hold its fourth annual bottle show and sale on March 20th at Saint Agatha Hall, adjacent to St. John Medical Center in Steubenville. The show will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Collections displayed this year will include medicine bottles, beers, inks, fruit jars, oil bottles and seltzers. Also among the many display items will be one of the largest displays of tri-state stoneware crocks and jugs ever shown in the area.

Fifty tables of bottles and related items will be presented for sale by dealers from six different states.

Evelyn McIntosh is the public relations person.

Baptism attracts out-of-town guests

The Rev. Father David Petry officiated at the baptism of little Tarun Marie McNeill, at the Saturday evening Mass in Saint Colman Catholic Church, for the infant daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Evan McNeill of Fort Knox, Ky., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Spilker of 426 Woodland Drive. The godparents are Miss Jeannie McNeil and Phil Spilker of Baltimore, Md. Other guests present were Tarun's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan McNeill of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Phil Spilker Ned Spilker and Miss Susan Briggs of Cincinnati.

On Sunday, the group celebrated the birthday of little Brian McNeill, Tarun's brother, who was five years-old.

Illinois became the 21st state Dec. 3, 1818.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior-show fans may grumble tonight. CBS has a fine two-hour drama, "A Circle of Children," competing with an excellent hour of Cole Porter's music on ABC. Take your pick.

The CBS show starts at 9 p.m. EST, concerns a school of emotionally disturbed youngsters and stars Jane Alexander, the Oscar nominee who also appears Sunday as Eleanor Roosevelt in an ABC drama.

In "Circle" she plays an affluent suburbanite who with her Women's League club visits the school on a do-gooder's tour. The visitors are warned not to respond to the children.

She violates the warning, innocently winks at one emotionally troubled child in the arms of Helga, a seemingly stern, no-nonsense German-born instructor. Pandemonium breaks out among the kids.

Asked to leave by a thirtyish male instructor (David Ogden Stiers), the visitors flee. But Miss Alexander, moved by what she's seen, returns to apologize for the trouble she's caused.

After a scene in which it's made clear she faces life alone — her marriage is dying and her only child, a daughter, is in college — she returns to the school, asking to work as an unpaid teacher's aide.

And the lady, holder of a master's degree in sociology, is assigned to work with Helga (Rachel Roberts), a woman of little formal education but brilliant

OFBB leaders set capitol trip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eighty-two county Farm Bureau presidents from around Ohio will go to Washington, D.C., next week to talk with Ohio congressmen about upcoming legislation. They also hope to have a visit with Vice President Walter Mondale.

The Farm Bureau representatives plan to discuss a program sponsored by Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., which would replace the current farm program which expires at the end of this year.

The state delegation will leave Ohio next Monday and will meet congressmen at a Tuesday morning luncheon. Plans are to try to see Mondale and U.S. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland later in the day.

Nichols selected as bank chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — R. Hal Nichols of Sharon Center in Medina County, has been named Superintendent of Banks by Gov. James A. Rhodes, filling the unexpired term of F. Scott O'Donnell, the governor's office said Tuesday.

Nichols, 34, a vice president of the commercial loan department of the Old Phoenix National Bank, Medina, and a former national bank examiner, will assume the new post on April 3.

ORDINANCE NO. 1-77
AMENDING THE ZONING MAP OF THE CITY OF WASHINGTON, OHIO, AND DECLARING SAID ORDINANCE AN EMERGENCY.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WASHINGTON, FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO:

Section 1.
That the zoning map of the City of Washington, being a part of the Zoning Ordinance, is hereby amended as follows, to-wit:

That the following described real estate, now owned by the Lafayette Agency, Inc.,

Situate in the City of Washington, County of Fayette, State of Ohio:

Being 41 1/2 feet off the Southeast end of Lots No. 75 and 76 of the original plat to the City of Washington, County of Fayette, and State of Ohio, and generally known as 220 N. Fayette Street, Washington C.H., Ohio, as shown and designated on said application, reference to which is hereby made for more particular description, be changed from R-3 to B-3 restricted zoning district.

Section 2.
That this ordinance be declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of the City of Washington, and further for the reason that is concerned with the proper zoning regulations of said City, it is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Energy Coalition means it will not participate in the environmental hearings opening today at Madison. A spokesman for the Indianapolis-based group said the withdrawal shouldn't suggest it is dropping opposition to the $1.6 billion facility proposed by Public Service Indiana.

Fritz Wiecking, coalition executive director, said, "We have decided the city of Madison, people in Jefferson County and officials in Kentucky are doing a very effective job in bringing out the issues in this dispute."

Gov. Brown receives personal view

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Shortly after midnight on a recent Sunday morning, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. hopped out of a police patrol car and watched as officers performed a routine car check.

A weekend earlier, Brown — unescorted and unannounced in advance — spent the night in a decaying San Francisco tenement building called "The Pink Palace," talking with tenants and exploring the neighborhoods in his denims.

He spent six hours last Christmas Day visiting patients and talking with staff workers at a ward of one of California's state mental hospitals.

Brown spent a day a few weekends later, again unannounced, with the community advisory board at another state hospital.

These unconventional trips are all part of a process which the 38-year-old Democrat describes as gathering "uncensored" data on social problems and government programs.

Brown says he gets a more accurate view of how things are working, "or, very often, how they are not working," by bypassing the bureaucracy and the advocates of special interests and going directly to people.

"I intend to continue it, yes," Brown said of his weekend excursions after spending half of the graveyard shift in a Santa Ana police patrol car.

"I find it a very useful tool to separate the rhetoric from the reality," Brown said. "Too much of government is paper and collecting money. A lot more of it should be finding out what happens to it, and that's what I intend to do."

"I get firsthand knowledge uncensored by the normal channels," the bachelor governor said. "In my position, much of the information is filtered."

Bits of bone prove puzzling

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Medina County authorities said Wednesday the bones and teeth found near a Hinckley Lake boathouse were determined to be of human origin, but Cuyahoga County authorities disagreed.

A Cuyahoga County official who declined identification said the remains appeared to be those of a dog.

A bit of bone said to be part of a skull was given to a Case Western Reserve University anthropologist for further study.

The Ohio Legislature held its first meeting in Columbus in 1816.—AP

"People talk about crime, they talk about mental illness, they talk about housing needs. But it is awfully hard to relate the words of the advocates with the realities we are trying to deal with," he said.

Brown, who spends many of his other weekends visiting or hosting authors, philosophers, professors and advocates of various causes, said he views his visits with those people in a similar light as his visits to the police department.

"I divide government into two powers: the coercive power and the persuasive power."

"The coercive power is the power to tax and pass new laws and send you to jail. That's the power people think of when they ask: 'What are you doing?'" "There's another power, to persuade, to inspire, to provide leadership by encouraging cooperation and bringing people together. What I'm doing is putting a definite amount of time and effort into the second power that this office carries with it, because I think that's an untapped resource."

For third year

Crum named as Ohio's Easter Seal chairman

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Television sports director Jimmy Crum has been selected as state Easter Seal chairman for an unprecedented third year. The announcement was made at the February board meeting of the Ohio (Easter Seal) Society for Crippled Children and Adults in Columbus.

"This is the first time a state chairman has been asked to serve for three years," commented Richard E. Plum, board president. "We are delighted to have Jimmy on our team again. He is doing an outstanding job for Easter Seals, and we're looking forward to an even better year in 1977." The Easter Seal campaign began March 1 and will extend through Easter Sunday, April 10.

Crum, sports director for WCMH-TV in Columbus for 24 years, has appeared in dozens of Ohio counties supporting local Easter Seal activities. "He is a talented and entertaining dinner speaker and has been a frequent guest on local television and radio talk shows during our campaign," Plum said.

A popular emcee for community and sporting events, Crum is part of the play-by-play team for the Cincinnati Bengals radio network. His coverage of Ohio high school basketball tournaments is carried on a statewide radio network.

A native of Mansfield, he began his broadcasting career for WMAN Radio at the age of 14. After a tour in the U.S. Marine Corps with Armed Forces Radio, he attended Ohio University majoring in radio. He was sports director for the university station (WOU) and sports announcer for WRFD radio in Worthington before joining WLWC-TV in 1953.

Crum's interest in the handicapped dates back many years ago, when he was inspired by the courage of a young polio victim at Children's Hospital in Columbus.

In 1965, he personally initiated the non-profit "Recreation Unlimited" fund at TV-4, which has raised more than $235,000 in 12 years to send handicapped children to summer camp.

Crum is former chairman, Franklin County Society for Crippled Children, and past state chairman, Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness. He is a member of the exclusive Headhunters Club, Ohio University Alumni Club, board of trustees of United Cerebral Palsy Foundation of Columbus and Franklin County, and board of directors, Ohio Athletic Association for the Mentally Retarded. Crum is a board member of both the Franklin County and Ohio Easter Seal Society. He helped organize the Columbus-Dayton local of American Federation of TV and Radio Artists and is a member and past president of the Ohio Sportscasters Association. Last year, he was appointed by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes to the new State Occupational Therapy Board.

The Easter Seal Society is the oldest and largest voluntary agency providing direct rehabilitation services to handicapped persons of all ages. Last year, the Easter Seal Society provided services to a total of 27,486 handicapped children and adults in Ohio. The non-profit organization was founded in Elyria, Ohio in 1919. It has 77 affiliates in Ohio, and is part of a nationwide federation of 52 state and territorial societies.

Ohio Perspective

Ohio senior citizens gaining strength, making voice heard

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's senior citizens apparently are having their voice heard more strongly in Ohio's legislature, just as they have in Congress in recent years.

Political scientists say it is because longer life trends and a nationwide baby "bust" are combining to make the elderly into a larger and more significant voting bloc.

Drug and utility bills are two areas in which relief could come this year on the state scene, although envisioned state subsidies for gas and electric bills could be jeopardized by fund shortages.

However, hearings got under way in both the Senate and House this week on identical bills that could give not only senior citizens but other segments a break in the purchase of prescription drugs.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, took before the Senate Education and Health Committee Tuesday night his measure allowing pharmacists to substitute less costly generic products for brand name prescription drugs.

Freeman, who said he has been working on his legislation for 18 months, was surprised a week before when a carbon copy of it emerged in the House.

Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, introduced that measure which was scheduled to be heard today by the House Judiciary Committee. Identical bills can emerge in separate chambers when the same requests are submitted to the billdrafting Legislative Service Commission.

Freeman quoted the welfare department as saying his bill could result in a savings in Ohio of $1 million to $5 million a year, since drugs can vary widely in price from one pharmacy to another.

He said the bill permits the pharmacist to select a less costly drug than the one prescribed if the doctor permitted the druggist to select an alternative product and pass the savings to the customer.

The Stark County lawmaker gave assurances that the legislation "will do nothing to disrupt the patient-doctor-pharmacist relationship."

He said once the public is educated about the measure "the savings to those on fixed incomes and the elderly who depend on medication to survive is incalculable."

Meanwhile, hearings are continuing in the House on a measure by Rep. Dennis E. Eckart, D-18 Euclid, which would have the state pick up 25 per cent of the gas and electric bills of Ohioans 65 and over, during the heating season November through April. It also would include help for disabled Ohioans.

Eckart's bill, however, is predicated upon the ability of the finance committees in the legislature to come up with $40 million to $60 million the subsidy package would cost.

At the same time, efforts are under way in the legislature to increase the income limitation to qualify for the homestead property tax exemption from $10,000 to $15,000 a year. The property tax break currently is given to homeowners 65 and over who occupy their own homestead.

Food delivered to over 600 area residents

Red Cross aided needy in blizzard

The blizzards and arctic weather of January, which brought the Washington C.H. area to a virtual standstill, are now but memories. Of course, there remain tell-tale signs which serve as reminders of the unprecedented sub-zero weather including the pot-holed roads and soaring utility bills; the still-lowered thermostats and the assortment of long johns which remain on stand-by status.

In retrospect, Fayette Countians can all give a hugh sigh of relief and say, "Well, we survived it". But, the fact that snowbound, stranded, hungry, unemployed Fayette Countians did make it through the January crisis can be attributed in part to the Fayette County chapter of the American Red Cross.

Helen Slavens, executive secretary of the local Red Cross, and Tom Mark, chairman of the board of directors of the Fayette County Red Cross chapter, recently discussed the organization's activities during the incapacitating weather.

Miss Slavens and Mark explained how the food that was dropped from Ohio Army National Guard helicopters and delivered to at least 600 Fayette Countians was supplied by the Red Cross. The food that was served at the National Armory came from the Red Cross federal storage center. Also, the local organization purchased milk, eggs and bread from Fayette County stores because these commodities, which were in great demand, weren't obtainable through the national Red Cross organization, whose supply had been depleted.

"We worked very closely with other organizations during the period of emergency," Miss Slavens, who has been affiliated with the Red Cross since January 1976, explained. "Each organization was doing its particular function, and the Red Cross, whose primary responsibility was to purchase and distribute food, was doing that."

According to Mark, disaster relief is one of the main functions of the Red Cross and in January, Fayette County, as has never happened before, needed this particular type of assistance. Food, clothing and shelter were provided by the organization.

Pointing out that the Red Cross receives a major part of its funding from Community Chest, Miss Slavens reported that approximately $1,900 was taken from the Fayette County Red Cross funds to purchase food, and that nearly $700 was received in donations from local people.

The Red Cross, which functions as an official liaison between military personnel and civilians, also sponsors a local swimming program and First Aid Course, as well as a group of volunteers called Gray Ladies who are very active in the Veteran's Administration Hospital, Chillicothe. Miss Slavens said, "The Red Cross is usually associated with its blood bank program and people sometimes don't realize all the things that the organization does do."

During the bad weather, when things were confusing to say the least, the Fayette County Red Cross received approximately 50 gallons of milk which was taken from a milk truck that was stranded at a service station in Washington C.H. Because the milk couldn't be delivered in the routine manner, it was decided that it should be distributed in the Washington C.H. area where it was badly needed. Miss Slavens doesn't know where the milk came from, but would like to be informed of such. "If the suppliers of the milk, whoever they are, want to consider it a donation, that would be fine, but we would still like to know where the milk came from."

Miss Slavens, who was helped during the crisis by Red Cross volunteers Mr. and Mrs. Paul Woods and Mrs. Delbert Knisley, said that she would like to convey to all those who received food from the Red Cross during the emergency that any donation from them would be greatly appreciated and would help defer the costs of the food.

Donations to the local Red Cross would help out tremendously since, who knows, we may be confronted with another crisis in the near future and the Red Cross, like any other volunteer organization, needs funds in order to operate.

Arrests

POLICE
THURSDAY — Edward Flader, 44, Wilmington, bench warrant.
SHERIFF

TUESDAY — Janet D. Kincaid, 22, Leesburg, vandalism. Jerry L. Brady, 22, 603 E. Elm St., theft.

THURSDAY — Charles A. Hull, 43, of 429 Millikan Ave., driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Traffic Court

A 29-year-old Zanesville man, who was arrested by Fayette County Sheriff deputies and an Ohio Highway Patrol officer Tuesday, was fined $175 and sentenced to 120 days in jail by Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case.

Durward K. Jennings was stopped by the Ohio Highway Patrol officer Tuesday on a routine traffic check. However, he fled the scene on foot and was apprehended later with the help of Fayette County sheriff's deputies.

Jennings was fined $100 and received the jail sentence on a driving without a valid operator's license charge. He was fined $75 for fleeing police officers.

Four speeding waivers were signed in Municipal Court Wednesday. Signing the $30 waivers were Hershell G. DeBusk, 40, Middletown; John A. Evans, 29, of 814 E. Temple St.; David W. Patterson, 32, Columbus; and Cecil D. Dalton Jr., 26, Bainbridge.

Grant awarded for seminar

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A $17,200 grant has been awarded to the University of Toledo's Business Research Center to finance a nine-week management seminar for executives in municipal and other local governments in northeastern Ohio.

The grant, distributed by the Ohio Board of Regents, will also involve the University of Akron. The participating institutions and agencies will provide some $8,600 in matching funds for the project.

The program is to begin Aug. 1.

Mort Sahl drops lawsuit plans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — He's not exactly burying the hatchet, but comedian Mort Sahl says he's giving up the idea of a lawsuit against entertainer Frank Sinatra.

"I'm trying to give the courts a better press," Sahl said in a telephone interview Wednesday.

Sinatra sued Sahl in Los Angeles Superior Court in 1974, claiming Sahl had only paid off half of a $20,000 loan made 10 years earlier.

The suit was filed a month after Sahl had commented on Sinatra's attacks on a Hollywood gossip columnist.

Sahl's attorney, Ronald H. Rouda, said then that Sahl was considering a countersuit. But Sinatra's case was dismissed when he refused to give a deposition last January.

ODNR eyes red tape elimination

Boaters urged to register early

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) today urges Ohio boaters to register their watercraft early this year.

According to Norv Hall, chief of ODNR's Division of Watercraft, the division is working to eliminate some of the red tape involved in registering boats.

He explained that a bill written by ODNR will be forwarded to the Ohio General Assembly, which will provide for mailing renewal registrations directly to boaters on a triennial schedule. To further simplify the process for boaters, the proposed legislation would not require the registration of outboard motors.

"Due to the manual processing of registration forms, it takes the average boater several months to record his registration properly with the Division of Watercraft," Hall said.

"To assure that the new system will be efficiently phased into the present system, it is essential that boaters provide accurate and current addresses and information when registering their boats for 1977. Early registrations will aid in phasing in the new system."

The 1976 registration expired March 1. This year's boat and motor registrations are available from agents throughout the state.

Agents in Fayette County are Philip L. French, Lakewood Sportsman, 5101 CCC Highway-W. and Harold Stewart, Stew's Automotive Service, 717 Western Ave.

Annual fees for watercraft and outboard motor registrations are:

outboard hulls, rowboats, canoes, barges or rafts, $1; sailboats and outboard motors, $3; inboard powercraft and sailboats with auxiliary inboard engines less than 100 horsepower, $7.50; inboard powercraft and sailboats with auxiliary inboard engines 100 horsepower or more, $10.

A writing fee of 50 cents, in addition to the regular fee, is charged by the licensing agents for each registration issued.

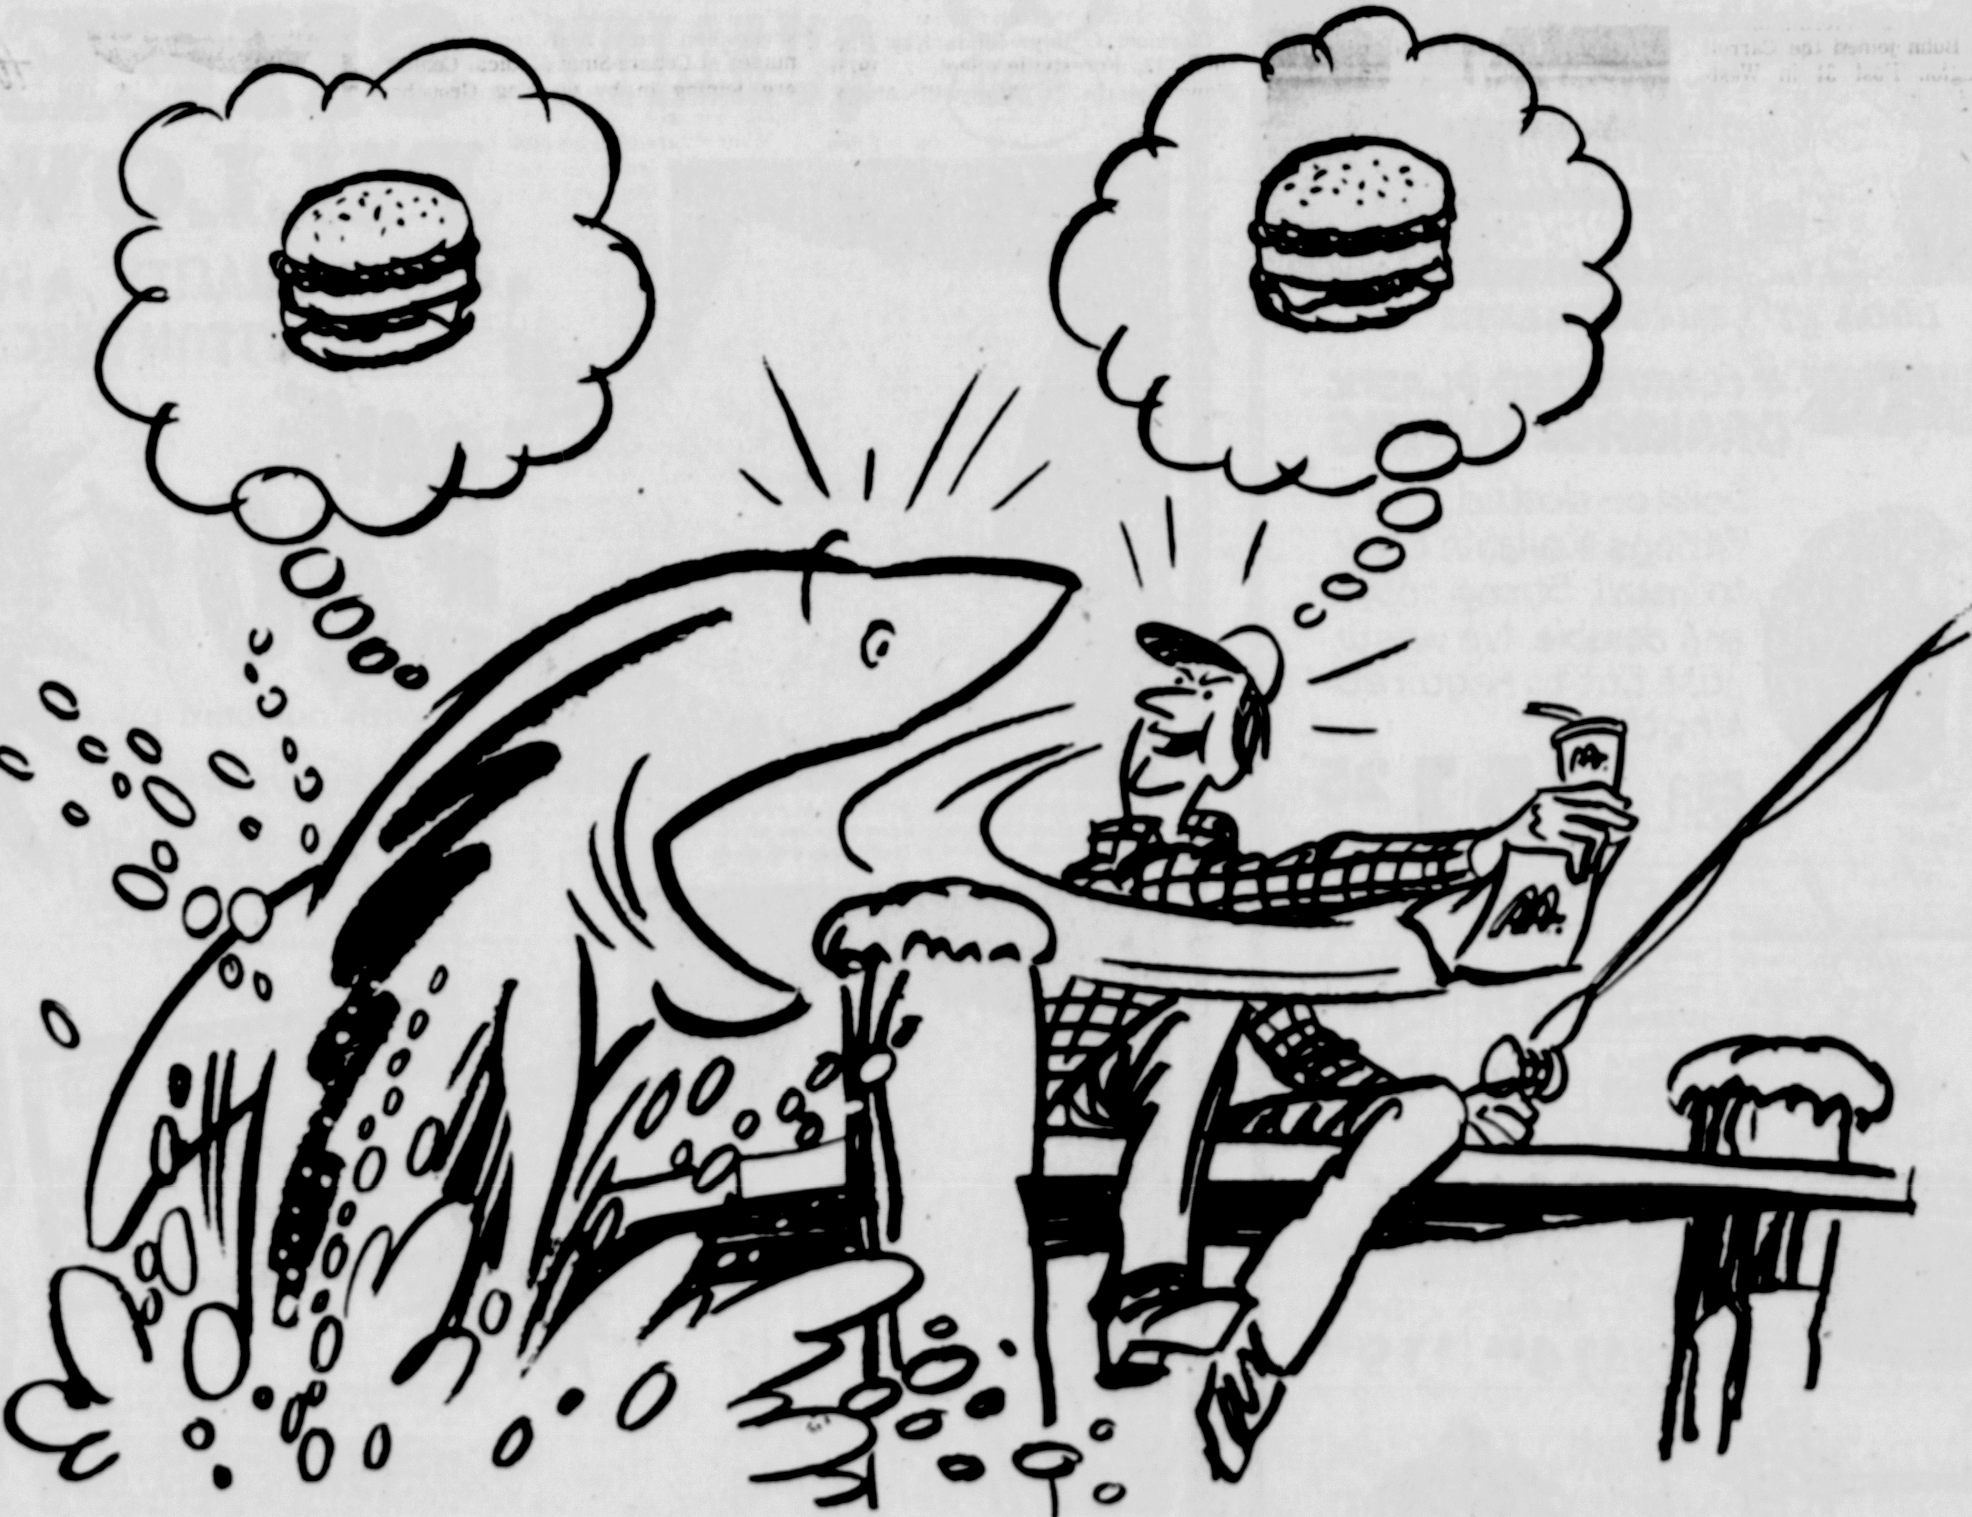

Temporary 21-day registrations for both boats and outboard motors are available for boaters wanting to use their boats immediately, but experiencing difficulty in obtaining a permanent registration.

Boaters registering boats 14 feet or longer and motors 10 horsepower and more, must present their title to get a registration. Watercraft titles are stamped annually at the time of registration, just as automobile titles are.

Those individuals who acquired boats before Jan. 1, 1964 when the state's watercraft titling law became effective, are not required to present a title when registering the craft.

Objectives for 1977-1978 studied

Chamber board eyes future goals

The Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors took significant steps Wednesday toward preparing for the coming Chamber year.

A sizeable task looms for the new year which begins July 1. The board gave initial approval to recommendations for a set of 1977-1978 Chamber goals, welcomed two new Chamber members, and established a new investment schedule.

Three committees presented their recommendations for 1977-1978 Chamber goals. They were the public image committee, the industrial committee and the professional committee. From these and other committee reports which will be completed this month the board will formalize its objectives for the coming year.

New Chamber members were the Sam Parrett Insurance Co., 144 S. Fayette St., represented by Rowland LeMaster, and Moore Adcrafters, CCC Highway-W, represented by Don Moore. The board welcomed these firms who are "joining the Chamber's effort to help build a better community for all Fayette County residents."

according to George Malek, Chamber executive vice president.

The board reviewed the Chamber's financial statement and approved a recommendation from the Chamber's funding committee that the annual membership be increased to $75.

It was noted that the only increase in Chamber membership cost in nearly a decade in 1973. That increase was only $5, raising the dues from $50 to $55.

In order to meet rising operating costs and embark on a more active program in 1977, the board felt the increase was not only necessary, but also justified.

Goal recommendations which were approved for further study included an increased political awareness program, preservation of railroad service to the industrial park, improved recreational facilities in Fayette County, greater contact with members to obtain their suggestions for Chamber projects, to display products manufactured locally, and a campaign urging the public to patronize Chamber members.

These and several other projects will eventually be incorporated in the Chamber's "Program of Work 1977-78."

FUN NIGHT, April 2, was discussed by program chairman James Polk. He noted that at present holders of Fun Night tickets have a one in 100 chance of winning $1,000. Total cash prizes for the annual social event will be $1,400 and to date only 100 tickets have been sold.

The program begins with a social hour at 6 p.m. and includes dinner, entertainment, dancing and cocktails, as well as a chance to win as much as $1,000. Tickets are $25 each and may be purchased from any board member or at the Chamber office.

Briefly discussed were B-I-E Day and the Ohio Chamber's Legislative Conference, both of which will be held next Wednesday.

Businesses, Industry, Education Day brings sophomore students from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools together with professionals from a variety of career fields to help students plan the remainder of their high school education.

During the legislative conference in Columbus, a delegation of local officials will meet with state politicians to discuss local and state government.

eliminated through being solved or having no apparent similarity. Cleveland's office conducted all the autopsies on a cooperative basis. Cleveland said two of the 11 have been solved but were included in the probe because of similarities to the other nine cases.

Kentucky State police, the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Cincinnati police homicide squad were invited. Other authorities and the numbers of killings under investigation in their districts are: Hamilton County, three; Clermont County, two; and one each in Butler, Warren and Clinton counties.

Leach said he would neither confirm nor deny the list of the victims published Wednesday by The Cincinnati Enquirer.

The list included:
Hamilton County: Mary Ruth Hopkins, 21, Cincinnati, June 30, 1976; Linda Dyer, 15, Cincinnati, Aug. 24, 1976; Dorothy Sullivan, 18, Cincinnati, Aug. 28, Earl Elder, Cincinnati, was convicted in the Sullivan case and sentenced to 25 years.

Kentucky: Susan Gorman, 19, Cincinnati, Dec. 3, 1975. Carol Sue Klaber, 16, Fort Wright, June 5, 1976 and an unidentified woman found April 17, 1976 in Grant County. John Boyd, 49, Middletown, a mental patient, was convicted for the Gorman slaying.

Clermont County: Linda Kay Harmon, 17, Forestville, Sept. 2, 1975; Nancy Grigsby, 23, Winterville, May 9, 1976.

Clermont County: Cora Ellen Durham, also known as Tanya Ellen King, 27, Cincinnati, June 20.

Butler County: Victoria Hincer, 24, Cincinnati, Oct. 31, 1976.

Clinton County: Elaine Bear, 15, Cincinnati, Feb. 28, 1977.

Leach said Montgomery County authorities asked to attend the meeting as observers. The Enquirer reported many of several victims knew each other and some of those arrested in the Mississippi narcotics seizure.

Groucho Marx

having good time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Groucho Marx may be in the hospital recuperating from hip surgery but the 86-year-old comedian is reported to be having a wonderful time, a family spokesman said. And some of the nurses at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center are joining in by wearing Groucho Marx T-shirts.

Marx entered the hospital Friday for surgery to insert a new right hip joint. Pains in his leg, which troubled him during a dinner with actor Elliott Gould, have subsided since the surgery to correct a floating fracture of the hip. "I'll do anything to miss my cook's food," Marx quipped after entering the hospital, the spokesman said Wednesday.

FMC plant shut down

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The FMC Corp. began shutting down its factory here after a federal judge ordered a halt to production and discharge of a chemical that has turned up in the drinking water supplies of Ohio River communities.

The decision to temporarily close the plant, reached Wednesday by U.S. District Judge Charles Haden in Parkersburg, would affect an estimated 1,200 employees, said Bill Currey, an FMC spokesman.

In issuing a 10-day temporary restraining order, Haden indicated he was more worried about the 1.28 million persons who rely on the river for their drinking water.

"I can't ignore that," he said, noting that he had to balance the interests of the FMC employees with the potential public health hazard.

Haden ordered the firm to stop production of carbon tetrachloride, a substance that has been spilled into the Kanawha River and traveled downstream to the Ohio on numerous occasions. He said FMC could place whatever amounts of the chemical it already had on hand in its storage tanks.

Local Legion post to mark 58th birthday next Friday

The Paul H. Hughey American Legion Post 25 will celebrate its 58th anniversary Friday, March 18.

Vora Brown Jr., American Legion post commander, said a dinner and dance will be held at the Legion home on N. Fayette Street beginning at 7 p.m.

The featured speaker for the anniversary celebration will be Edlen O. (Dan) Bohn, of Columbus, second vice commander of the 133,000-member Ohio American Legion. He was elected to the post at the veteran organization's 58th annual state convention in Columbus last July.

A U.S. Air Force veteran of the Korean War, Bohn joined the Carroll American Legion Post 31 in Westminster, Md., in 1953. His Ohio American Legion membership includes two years in Dayton Post 5 prior to transferring to Bexley Post 430 when he relocated in the Columbus area.

Bohn has served in most major committees and officer roles in Bexley Post 340; was 12th district (Franklin County) finance officer in 1971; served as both second and first vice commander of the district in 1972, and in 1973 was elected as its commander. He is employed as finance director of a large Columbus auto dealership.

House built wrong place

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Because a contractor put a house on the wrong lot, Gaylon Simmons faces the prospect of paying $193,471.66 to build a home for his neighbor.

Simmons' neighbor, John L. Sagers, said he recently visited his own lot in Chateau Estates — a suburban subdivision — with plot map in one hand and plans for his proposed new home in the other.

"I was certain I was looking at my lot, but there was an almost-completed house on it," Sagers said. "I had my surveyor go back out and resurvey, and they confirmed what I suspected — someone was building a house on my lot."

Sagers says the house, about a month short of completion, is his, now. "As I understand Louisiana law, it is rather explicit about land ownership and the fact the owner also owns any improvements."

Simmons, vice president of Louisiana State Gas Association, says his surveyor erred, and he has asked a court for help.

Southwest District stars named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Ron Holtrey and his star Lebanon player, Jim Rhoden, have won The Associated Press' main honors this season in Ohio Southwestern District high school basketball.

Holtrey guided Lebanon to 18 straight triumphs this season and a district panel of sports writers tapped him for the Southwestern Class AAA Coach of the Year crown.

Rhoden, a 6-foot-6 senior who averaged 20.7 points and 13 rebounds, earned the area AAA Player of the Year honors. Rhoden, highly sought by colleges, led Lebanon to a 39-1 record going into this year's tournaments.

Dave McCurdy, a 6-1 Springfield Catholic star with 22 points and 12 rebounds per contest, and 6-1 Carlisle senior Eddie Crowe, hitting 22 points a game, shared the Southwestern Class AA Player of the Year award.

Bob Velton of Reading, with no

starters taller than 6-2, guided his team to a 15-3 record and the Hamilton County National championship. His lineup was an untested senior, two juniors and two sophomores. That earned him area AA Coach of the Year.

The Class A district honors went to 6-1 Arcanum senior Kevin O'Dell, 23.2 points per game, as the No. 1 player and Coach Jack Young, who is turning New Miami's program around. Young was 4-15 in his first season and 10-8 this time in his second try.

'Gas House' revisited

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — You can almost see the flashing spikes of Pepper Martin and hear the thundering footsteps of Frankie Frisch as the St. Louis Cardinals go through spring training at Busch Field.

They're the new "Gas House Gang," and the man breathing new spirit into them is one who grew up in the shadows and tradition of one of baseball's most exciting legends.

"Pride and discipline, they're our watchwords," says Vern Rapp, the new manager of the Cardinals, successor to Red Schoendienst. "I was born in St. Louis. The 1934 World Series champions were my idols.

"I was just six years old, but I remember Dizzy and Paul Dean, Pepper Martin and Ducky Medwick. The red, white and blue stockings, the red bird on the chest of the uniforms — these were symbols of a slashing, aggressive brand of baseball.

"It's a spirit and togetherness that I would like to instill in this team. My personal goal is to give the team this brand — whatever is needed to win a ball game, we will do it."

The iron discipline of the 48-year-old one-time Cardinal catcher, involving the rigid personal appearance code of the champion Cincinnati Reds and New York Yankees, has given the 1977 Redbirds a deceptive look.

They could be the new pretty bullies of baseball.

No shaggy long hair, beards or mustaches. No sloppy blue jeans, stockingless feet and sandals in hotel lobbies or on airplanes. Hair neat and moderate length. Suits and jackets in public places.

"I don't go around with a micrometer to measure hair," Rapp says, "but the rules are firm.

"This isn't just a fetish with me. Baseball is a team game. There is a growing tendency toward individualism — everybody doing his own thing. My feeling is that discipline welds the team into a unit. What you do together, you achieve together."

Rapp doesn't try to conceal the fact that there have been objections. There still is some lockerroom grumbling but most players have come to accept the edict philosophically.

The biggest protest came from pitcher Al Hrabosky, who was proud of his sinister Fu Manchu mustache and beard. "It helped me win games," he said. "It helped intimidate batters."

The new Cardinals look like a drill team as they go through two workouts daily in matching sweat suits — red jackets, blue pants, red sneakers — under the tutelage of a 72-year-old former St. Louis University physical education professor, Dr. Walter Eberhardt.

Although he started out in the Cardinal chain, Rapp joined the Cincinnati organization in 1969, beginning a seven-year hitch as manager of the Reds' AAA farm team in Indianapolis.

He denies that his strict appearance code was borrowed from the Reds' Sparky Anderson. "It's through the entire system," he said. "President Bob Howsam is responsible."

Rose remains unsigned

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mark Fidrych picked up where he left off last season, pitching three scoreless innings for the Detroit Tigers in a 5-4 exhibition opener against the Boston Red Sox, but there was discontent at Cincinnati's camp as the Reds' 10-time All-Star third baseman Pete Rose refused to sign his contract.

In the Detroit-Boston game Wednesday at Winter Haven, Fla., Jason Thompson, Ben Oglivie and Mickey Stanley cracked home runs for the Tigers. Fidrych, the American League's Rookie of the Year who won 19 games last year, gave up only three hits in three innings.

At Tampa, Fla., Rose said he wouldn't sign, and decried what he called a lack of appreciation by the Reds for his dedication. He said he might play out his option because of the bitter salary dispute.

"Why are they negotiating on the date of my birth rather than on my batting average?" said the 36-year-old Rose, who has batted .300 in 11 of his last 12 years.

Rose has played 2,184 games in his 17-year career with the Reds' organization.

Oral Roberts still loses

'65 points don't mean a thing'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Sixty-five points don't mean a thing because we lost," said a dejected Anthony Roberts, whose record 65-point output could not prevent a 90-89 loss by Oral Roberts to Oregon in an opening-round game of the National Invitation Tournament.

The 6-foot-6 senior connected on 25 field goals and 15 free throws Wednesday night, breaking the NIT record of 53 points by George Mikan in 1945.

In other NIT opening-round games, Virginia Tech beat Georgetown 83-79, Villanova defeated Old Dominion 71-68 in overtime and Houston edged Indiana State 83-82.

Virginia Tech rallied from a 40-37 intermission deficit against Georgetown, and along with the other winners, earned a berth in next week's NIT quarter-finals at Madison Square Garden, against the winner of tonight's Alabama-Memphis State game.

Virginia Tech won the NIT title in 1973.

Villanova trailed Old Dominion's

Monarchs for most of the game before inching ahead late in the second half. The score was tied 65-65 at the end of regulation.

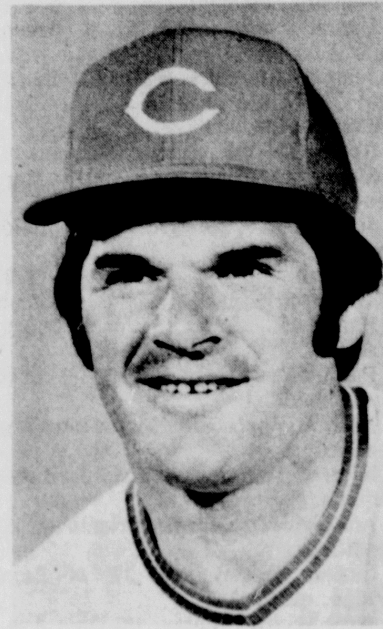

Houston's victory lifted the Cougars into the quarter-finals against Illinois State, which defeated Creighton 65-58 Tuesday night.

Oregon's Ernie Kent, one of four players assigned to defense Anthony Roberts, shouted "Unbelievable!" as he watched the Titans' star continually fire the ball through the basket.

Oregon took the lead after a 40-40 halftime tie as forward Greg Ballard scored 43 points, helping offset Roberts' one-man show.

In the Virginia Tech-Georgetown game, the Gobblers grabbed the lead on a layup by Marshall Ashford with 14:04 remaining. A drive by Ron Bell and two free throws by Phil Thieneman built the margin to 55-50.

Ashford hit 16 of his 24 points in the second half. Georgetown got a game-high 28 points from Derrick Johnson.

PETE ROSE

promised others would be coming. For Brett, at least, no salary cut was involved.

The Hoyas twice closed the gap to two points in the final three minutes.

Villanova, 21-9, trailed by as many as 11 points against the Monarchs but pulled even on a field goal by Whitey Rigby with 4:53 to go. A 20-footer by Old Dominion's Jeff Fuhrmann with 1:05 left forced the game into overtime.

In the extra period, Larry Herron's two free throws with 3:45 remaining clinched the victory for the Wildcats.

Houston led by as many as 10 points in the second half against Indiana State but the Sycamores outscored the Cougars 12-2 over a late three-minute span.

With one minute left, Indiana State's Larry Bird tied the score 82-82. With 37 seconds remaining, though, the Sycamores' Dan Rutledge fouled Mike Schultz, who made his first shot but missed the second. Bird got the ball under the basket but his jump shot bounced off the rim as the buzzer sounded.

Houston goes to the quarterfinals 27-7.

In other college basketball action, the University of North Carolina-Charlotte edged New Orleans 71-70 for the championship in the first Sun Belt Tournament. Jacksonville, N.C., rolled over Georgia State 102-72 in the consolation game.

Hick joins MAC stars

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Matt Hick, the Northern Illinois forward who led the Mid-American Conference in scoring and rebounding for the second straight season, was a unanimous choice for the all-league team.

The all-star first squad announced by the conference Wednesday also includes Ben Poquette of co-champion Central Michigan and Tommy Harris of Bowling Green, Archie Aldridge of co-champion Miami, and Burrell McGhee of Kent State.

The players were selected by MAC head coaches.

Second team choices were Chuck Goodyear of Miami and Tom Cutler of Western Michigan—both first team picks a year ago—Leonard Drake of Central Michigan, Toledo junior Ted Williams and Steve Skaggs of Ohio University.

Hicks, a 6-foot-4, 192-pounder, led the conference in scoring and rebounding with averages of 25.3 and 12.9, respectively.

Harris, 6-4, 180-pounds, was the second leading scorer in the conference for the second straight season with a 23.1 average. The 6-foot-5, 212-pound Aldridge was the leading scorer and rebounder for the MAC co-champions with 19.1 and 8.6 averages. Poquette, at 6-foot-9 and 235 pounds the biggest player on either team, was the second leading rebounder in the MAC, grabbing off 11.0 caroms for the Chippewas.

And McGhee, a 6-foot-77, 190-pound sophomore, was the only league newcomer on the first two teams. The transfer from Michigan, playing his first campaign with Kent State averaged 19.8 points a game.

Green leads All-Big 10

CHICAGO (AP) — Rickey Green of Michigan and Mike Thompson of Minnesota were unanimous selections on the 1977 All-Big Ten basketball team announced today by The Associated Press.

All-American Kent Benson of Indiana missed being a unanimous choice by one vote of a panel of Midwest sports writers and broadcasters.

Tourney talk

Both county teams have made it through sectional tournaments and now turn their thoughts to district competition.

Washington C.H. hopes the Ohio University Convocation Center is as nice to them as it was to Miami Trace. The Blue Lions begin district play Friday, Mar. 11 against the Nelsonville-York Buckeyes.

A's ace Blue among strangers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

AP Sports Writer

Vida Blue will be on the mound when the Oakland A's open their exhibition season Thursday, but he should be excused if he does not relate to those other strangers in the familiar Fort Knox gold, kelly green and wedding gown white playsuits.

Oh, he will recognize Claudell Washington in right field, but last year's infield of Gene Tenace, Phil Garner, Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando has given way to — ready now — Wayne Gross, Larry Lintz, Rob Picciolo and Tommy Sandt. Who?

In addition, Manny Sanguillen, who came from Pittsburgh in exchange for Manager Chuck Tanner, will be behind the plate, someone named Dennis Walling will be patrolling centerfield and Billy Conigliaro, out of baseball since 1973, will be in left.

"We want to see all the kids. The other guys have all season," said Jack McKeon, Charlie Finley's newest manager, explaining why his starting lineup will not include such holdovers as centerfielder Bill North or second baseman Phil Garner.

The first exhibition contest was played Monday and the heroes were more non-household names ... people like Mike Barlow, Mike Easler and Thad Bosley ... as the California Angels blanked Fullerton State, one of the nation's top college teams, 3-0.

Barlow pitched three perfect innings, striking out six. Easler walked and scored a run, and Bosley, who stole 90 bases last year at Salinas in the California League, tripled and later scored.

The names figured to be more familiar today in the first game between major league teams. The Angels' Frank Tanana was to oppose Randy Jones of the San Diego Padres, the National League's Cy Young Award winner who is coming off shoulder surgery.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Cubs have settled on a successor to third baseman Bill Madlock, the two-time NL batting champion they traded to San Francisco. It will be Steve Ontiveros, who came from the Giants along with Bobby Murcer in that deal.

"He looks terrific to me," Herman Franks, the Cubs' new skipper, said of Ontiveros, who batted only .176 with the Giants last season.

In the contract department, the Padres signed third baseman Doug Rader, the Cleveland Indians satisfied outfielder Charlie Spikes and the Texas Rangers ended a minor salary skirmish with rookie second baseman Bump Wills.

However, the Indians also invoked the automatic renewal clause on designated hitter Rico Carty; the New York Yankees did the same to seven players, including first baseman Chris Chambliss, outfielders Roy White and Oscar Gamble, shortstop Fred Stanley and pitcher Dock Ellis; the Los Angeles Dodgers renewed pitcher Al Downing and outfielders John Hale and Glenn Burke, and the St. Louis Cardinals renewed outfielders Lou Brock and Bake McBride and pitchers John Denny, Bob Forsch and John D'Acquisto. Brock and D'Acquisto, however, reportedly have reached agreement.

Little League registration

Registration for the Washington C.H.-Union Township Little League program will be held Wednesday evening, March 16, 1977, at Grace United Methodist Church.

All youngsters who have not formerly participated in the Little League program here are required to be registered. A parent or legal guardian must be present.

The Washington C.H. Little League program is open to all residents of Washington C.H. or Union Township. Participants must be eight years of age on or before July 31, 1977, and must not be older than 12 as of that date.

The child need not attend the registration which will begin promptly at 7 p.m. Parents may register their child in the fellowship hall of the church located at the corner of N. North and E. Market streets.

All new Little League players must, however, attend the league practice session at 1 p.m. April 2 at Wilson Field located on Oakland Ave.

Those players who were on a team last season are considered to be registered and will be contacted by their coaches concerning participation this season.

The Little League program is divided into two divisions, the minor and major leagues. Younger children are eligible only for the minor leagues while older children are eligible for either. Details will be presented during registration.

Here's How

Home Energy Sources Explored

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Power companies are testing many new ways to bring less costly energy to consumers. For example, storing electricity in bricks at night for use the next day. The night rate would be cheap, explained W. Donham Crawford, president of the Edison Electric Institute, an association of investor-owned electric utilities.

"It's an idea that has been used in European countries for decades. In the morning the electric load comes back and the reduced rate is cut off. The method has not been used in the United States before because electricity always has been cheap, but now it is justified," he explained.

The project is being tested, he says, by the Green Mountain Power Corp. in Burlington, Vt., and the American Electric Power System which is field testing it in homes in areas from West Virginia to Michigan. It works like this:

Two units of an electric thermal storage space heating system are positioned side by side — a conventional electric furnace and a British-built heat storage furnace containing a brick-like refractory core inside a heavily insulated metal cabinet.

From 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. the conventional electric furnace heats the home while the storage furnace is charging and storing heat for use the next day. At 7 a.m. both units cut off and for the next 16 hours, a blower moves air across the hot bricks in the storage core to provide heat for the home using electricity only to run the blower. At 11 p.m. the off-peak direct heating and storage cycle begins anew.

"It's an idea that would be a good use of energy if we become heavily reliant on electrical cars in the future," Crawford explains. At night you would plug your car into a storage battery.

"And if enough people could be persuaded to voluntarily use their electricity at off-peak times, avoiding the peak hours — 9 to 11 and 3 to 7 — the outlook could change, but it would probably be difficult to get people to do their wash at night or to shop at 9 p.m.," says Crawford, whose institute offers a booklet that provides 104 ways to use less energy.

"As it is now, every time a company must meet new demands, it must put in extra turbo generators even if they are to be used only a short time to meet those demands," he continued. "The whole point is that companies are trying to get more use out of existing equipment. If they could, the savings could be passed on to consumers," he said.

A Detroit company has a signal that could turn off electric water heaters in homes. A Vermont power company is experimenting with a radio control system that might beam into a home when the burden becomes too great, "all pretty much on a test basis," Crawford notes. Such ideas might require new meters and other equipment which would be an added expense.

"Connecticut is using some nuclear power successfully. Many people are frightened of the word nuclear, but a year's waste from one plant represents a solid cube of about 3 feet by 3 feet and they are thinking about getting rid of it permanently," explains Crawford. He worked with the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission after naval service following his graduation from Annapolis in 1947.

The fuel is controversial because of radiation fears, he observed, "but you probably get more radiation from an ordinary house of masonry."

Recently, seven states — California, Washington, Oregon, Arizona, Colorado, Ohio and Montana — voted for nuclear power, he points out.

In ten years it is expected "that more than 100 plants will have been built by 50 or so of the larger companies," he said.

Meanwhile, utility companies are exploring many possibilities of tapping new fuel sources. Experiments at Northeast Utilities include those with laser fusion that would use a fuel source found in ordinary water, solar energy, wind power, fuel cells — devices which produce electricity directly by chemical reaction and energy that could be converted from solid wastes.

A ROYAL INVITATION
NEW YORK (AP) — His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester, cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, on a recent visit here expressed appreciation for the hospitality shown by Americans to visitors to this country in its bicentennial year. He invited Americans in return to go to Britain next year to join in that country's celebration of the Queen's Silver Jubilee, the 25th anniversary of her accession to the throne in 1952.

The main celebrations, involving much pageantry, will take place in London in June. But there will be special commemorative events throughout the year all over Britain.

Tests are under way to control peak use in other ways with the agreement of customers.

Woman charged by deputies

Vandalism suspect arraigned in court

A 22-year-old Leesburg area woman was arraigned Wednesday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court and placed under $2,500 bond in connection with a vandalism incident which occurred Monday in southern Fayette County.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported that Janet D. Kincaid, Rt. 2, Leesburg, was charged following an investigation by Chief Deputy Robert W. McArthur and Sgt. William R. Crooks. The investigation concerned a report from Robert Kincaid that his mobile home on Old Charleston Road had been entered and extensively damaged.

Sheriff Thompson reported that the trailer was partially flooded with water, furnishings were upset, and bottled food items were broken and poured about the residence.

Janet Kincaid was arrested Tuesday on the felony charge. She is currently being held in the Fayette County jail.

Vandalism to an occupied structure or its contents is a fourth-degree felony under Ohio law with a possible penalty of six months to five years imprisonment or a fine up to $2,500 or both.

Sheriff Thompson also reported that a 22-year-old Washington C.H. man has been arrested and charged with stealing a citizens band radio.

Jerry L. Brady of 603 Elm St. was arrested by Deputy Charles Wise following an investigation into the theft of a 23-channel radio from the Evelyn Brown residence, 392 Hickory Lane, on March 2.

Brady is now being held in the Fayette County jail. He appeared before Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case Wednesday and was fined $100 and sentenced to 15 days in jail.

Sheriff Thompson reported that the citizen's band radio was recovered.

The Washington C.H. Police Department is investigating a car battery theft.

Richard Keller, of Bloomingburg, told police officers that someone removed the battery from his auto while it was parked on Warren Avenue Wednesday.

Columbus man hospitalized; burned starting camp fire

A 24-year-old Columbus man suffered second and third degree burns on his face and hands after he attempted to start a camp fire at the Deer Creek State Park camping area early Thursday.

Clarence C. Hicks, 24, of Columbus, was reportedly trying to start the fire with a tire and gasoline, when the gasoline ignited.

Hicks was taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital by the Fayette County Life Squad. He was later transferred to Mount Carmel Hospital in Columbus by a Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home ambulance.

He was admitted to the Columbus hospital and he is listed in fair condition.

Four elderly persons hired for weather-related posts

As a result of the recent fuel and weather crisis in Fayette County, four elderly residents are now employed.

The four persons were employed through the Senior Community Service Employment Program, headquartered in Columbus.

The program, funded through the U.S. Department of Labor, is sponsored by the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons.

William F. Gilcrest, project director for the Senior Community Service Employment Program, said the four workers 55 years of age or older were employed by non-profit organizations in jobs related to the community's fuel and weather crisis. The workers were required to meet certain income criteria and be residents of Fayette County.

The program provided only the funds for salaries of the enrollees. It was the responsibility of the community to locate the individuals who qualify and to locate agencies which could benefit from the program.

Sanitarians face licensing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sanitarians, hired by local government agencies to inspect restaurants and other places that serve food, would have to be licensed, under a bill given lackluster 60-33 support by the House.

Sponsored by Rep. Frederick H. Deering, D-84 Monroeville, it aims at preventing untrained individuals from working in the field of environmental health.

But freshman Rep. Robert D. Corbin, R-38 Dayton, called creation of another agency Wednesday an "exercise in futility." He said he has attended a recent committee hearing considering a Democratic-sponsored bill that would eliminate 187 existing boards, commissions and bureaus.

Revenge for 1973 murders seen as motive

Machete-wielding terrorists threaten to behead captives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Machete-wielding terrorists held more than 100 hostages in three buildings today, threatening to chop off heads of captives unless they are allowed to exact revenge against Black Muslim leaders they blame for a mass murder four years ago.

Gunmen, all believed to be members of the tiny, predominantly black Hanafi Moslem sect, seized the headquarters of a Jewish social service organization, an Islamic mosque and the District of Columbia city hall.

During the takeover of city hall, a black reporter for a Washington radio station was killed and a city councilman was wounded.

Police surrounded the three buildings and tried to negotiate with the men who were armed with rifles, shotguns, automatic weapons and machetes.

But as the siege continued through the night police remained uncertain how many hostages were being held and how many terrorists were in the buildings.

The largest group of hostages was being held in the eighth-floor cafeteria of the B'nai B'rith headquarters, seven blocks north of the White House. An official of the Jewish service organization said he believed as many as 118 people were in the hands of the terrorists.

Another 14 hostages were being held at the Islamic Center on Washington's Embassy Row and seven were inside the District Building, located on Pennsylvania Avenue within sight of the White House grounds.

At least three persons in the B'nai B'rith building were believed wounded.

In a telephone conversation from the B'nai B'rith building, one of the terrorists, Khalafi Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, was asked if he would hold out indefinitely. He told an Associated Press reporter, "Don't worry, when the heads start dropping out the window, then you worry."

Abdul Khaalis described himself as the leader of the Hanafi Moslems.

His son-in-law, Abdul Aziz, was contacted in the northwest Washington headquarters of the Hanafi Moslems where the murders took place four years ago. Abdul Aziz told reporters that if the demands of the terrorists were not met, "heads will be chopped off. A killing room will be set up at B'nai B'rith and heads will be thrown out of windows."

Mayor Walter Washington, who had been barricaded in his city hall office for several hours early in the takeover but later escaped the building, said early today that foreign diplomats were involved in discussions with the Hanafi gunmen.

Abdul Khaalis denied any knowledge of such negotiations.

Revenge for the brutal 1973 murders of seven Hanafis, six of whom were Abdul Khaalis' children, appeared to be the principal motive for the sudden invasion of the three buildings late Wednesday morning. Five Philadelphia Black Muslims were convicted of the 1973 slayings and each was sentenced to 140 years in prison.

In telephone conversations with newsmen, Abdul Khaalis blamed Black Muslim leaders, including heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali, for the slayings of his children and demanded that authorities turn the Muslims over to him. In addition to Ali, he listed as Muslim leaders Wallace D. Muhammad, now head of the movement; his brother, Herbert Muhammad, and former Philadelphia Muslim leader Jeremiah Muslim Shabazz.

Other demands made by Abdul Khaalis during the telephone conversations were: —That authorities turn over the murderers of Malcolm X, who like Khaalis was a member of the Black Muslims before breaking with them.

—The return of a $750 fine assessed against him for shouting at the Muslim defendants during their trial for the 1973 Hanafi murders. Police returned the money Wednesday night.

—A halt to the screening of the movie "Muhammad, Messenger of God," which was scheduled for its American premiere on Wednesday in New York and Los Angeles. The distributor immediately stopped the film in mid-screening after learning of Abdul Khaalis' demand. Abdul Khaalis said the film was "a fairy tale" that demeaned and distorted the Islamic faith, although few other Moslems have objected to it.

In Chicago, Wallace Muhammad denied responsibility for the 1973 Hanafi slayings and said he deplored Wednesday's violence.

Four to six gunmen, including Khaalis, stormed the B'nai B'rith headquarters around 11 a.m., wounding eight persons and herding 100 or more hostages onto the top floor of the eight-story building. Police said 43 persons either were released or escaped the terrorists by hiding.

Of the wounded, two were hospitalized overnight, three were treated and released, and three still were being held by the terrorists. The condition of the wounded hostages was not known.

An hour after the first invasion, up to three more gunmen took the Islamic Center on Embassy Row, apparently without violence or injury. They retained 14 hostages, including center director Dr. Abdul Rauf, the city's highest-ranking Moslem.

One of the gunmen told a reporter by telephone that their actions were coordinated with Khaalis' group, and that "heads will roll" unless demands are met.

At 2:30 in the afternoon two more gunmen opened fire on the fifth floor of the District Building, where Mayor Walter Washington and the city council were at work.

They killed Maurice Williams, 24, an employee of WHUR-FM. City Councilman Marion Barry was wounded in the chest by a ricochet bullet, and two security guards were wounded, one critically. A fourth man, identified only as a building guard, lay motionless for hours under the guns of the invaders and was thought to be dead, but rescuers found him alive when they evacuated him. His condition was not known.

President Carter ordered the FBI onto the case in midafternoon, and director Clarence Kelley and Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell shuttled to and from police headquarters during the night.

Police said all three groups appeared to be in communication by telephone, although they could not say with certainty that the city hall group was related to the others. However, the city hall gunmen made no independent demands.

Abdul Khaalis told reporters that the city hall gunmen were part of his group.

Officials said they were negotiating with the terrorists but they would not describe the discussions. There were reports that Dr. Rauf had asked diplomats from Moslem countries to intercede, and that this was being done.

Abdul Khaalis was born Ernest McGhee in Gary, Ind.

The Hanafi Moslems are a small mostly black group never before blamed for violence in the United States. They number perhaps 1,000 and consider themselves the only true followers of Islam. They are not part of the Black Muslims, a much larger organization.

Coffee Break . . .

THE APPEALS court dismissal in the impeachment suit against Bloomington Mayor Max E. Grim was not the fault of the Fayette County Common Pleas Court reporter as implied in Wednesday's Record-Herald.

According to Judge Evelyn Coffman, the plaintiffs' attorney in the case, John C. Young, was notified that a transcript needed by the appeals court would be finished Jan. 21. He was also reminded to check the time limit and if necessary request an extension of time. Young failed to request an extension of time and the case was dismissed.

DECORATIONS on graves in the Fairview Cemetery, Jeffersonville, should be removed by March 23 when the annual spring clean-up project will begin.

Republican Party restoration urged

By CINDI PEARCE
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Revitalization of the Republican Party was stressed at the 37th annual Lincoln Day dinner Wednesday night in the Mahan Building.

Charles F. Kurfess, minority leader of the Ohio House of Representatives, stressed to the nearly 200 persons in attendance that there is an urgent need for revitalization of the Republican Party on both the local and national levels.

"The strength of all political parties is down," said Rep. Kurfess who was elected to his tenth consecutive term in 1974 to represent the 83rd House District. "The parties, more than ever before, are dependent upon their candidates because people are voting for candidates, not for the party. Our appeal must be broadened."

Rep. Kurfess continued, "We learned something from the last (November) election. We learned that it wasn't an issue oriented election. Here in Ohio we learned that President Ford lost because we didn't do the work and get out the vote as we had to do. We must revitalize our efforts."

Looking toward the future, Rep. Kurfess stated, "We can't underestimate the importance of the 1978 elections. They are important because we lost so much in 1976. As we think about 1978, we must not overlook the local elections of 1977. The 1977 elections are darned important to the Republican party. How well we can do in '78 may be determined in large part by the '77 elections," he said during the event sponsored by the Fayette County Republican Women's Club.

Saccharin banned by FDA regulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diabetics and others who can't eat sugar might be able to get saccharin as a prescription drug after the proposed federal ban on the artificial sweetener goes into effect.

The Food and Drug Administration announced the ban on saccharin Wednesday, citing a Canadian study that found large doses of the sweetener caused cancer in laboratory rats.

Canada simultaneously banned saccharin.

The FDA said it would take at least 120 days to put the ban into effect, but it called on manufacturers "to discontinue use of saccharin as soon as possible."

In announcing the ban, the FDA said it would consider allowing some limited use of saccharin to continue because no substitutes for it would be available in the near future.

But Acting FDA Commissioner Sherwin Gardner said any decision on the prescription approach was still months away.

Canada said those on restricted diets will be able to buy pure saccharin only in drug stores after Sept. 1.

Diet soft drinks account for three-quarters of the five million pounds of saccharin used yearly in the United States. A spokesman for the National Soft Drink Association said the industry would try to develop new low-calorie beverages without saccharin.

The Coca-Cola Co. said it regretted the FDA's action, but would comply with the request to discontinue saccharin use as soon as possible.

"We will have reformulated low calorie drinks ready for the market"

the importance of having "outstanding community leaders" in the posts of precinct and ward leaders. "We (Republicans) are the party of sound governmental principles, good stewardship of the government and of the taxpayer's money. We're concerned about individuals. We are a party of affirmative action; the party of Lincoln; the party that freed the slaves. The challenge still remains to make the people of this nation one people without racial strife."

Perturbed with the "interesting record" of House Democrats, Rep. Kurfess remarked, "In 1975, Gov. Rhodes came to office one week after the Democrats took control of the General Assembly. During that seven day period, the Democrats rushed through six bills, all of which were okayed by Gilligan."

He continued, "This year, the Democrat assembly came into session at the height of the energy crisis. The only thing we accomplished during this time was to pass a resolution which stated that Jim Rhodes is right. We've got to turn down our thermostats."

Inserting several amusing anecdotes and jokes into his speech, Rep. Kurfess said, "Christopher Columbus must have been the first Democrat. When he started out on his journey, he didn't know where he was going; when he got there, he didn't know where he was; when he got home, he didn't know where he'd been and he did it all on someone else's money."

A delegate-at-large from Ohio to the Republican National Convention in 1968 and 1972, Rep. Kurfess discussed collective bargaining, saying, "When

City water problems continue

With the temperature outside a balmy 50 degrees, frozen water pipes created some heat at Wednesday night's Washington C.H. City Council meeting.

Despite the spring-like temperatures, several Washington C.H. residents are reportedly still without water service due to frozen underground pipes. Council member Richard Kimmet wanted to know if the city could help remedy the problem.

Kimmet stated that there is "a little old lady in Washington C.H." who has been without water since Feb. 9.

He added that the woman is on a fixed income and draws a low Social Security payment. Last month when her water pipes first became frozen, she was reportedly told by the local water company to hire a welder to thaw the pipes, Kimmet said.

The pipes were thawed by the welder and the woman was charged $20. However, her pipes quickly refroze, according to Kimmet. He stated that the woman has been without water ever since.

Continuing with the woman's plight, Kimmet said that it will cost her $210 to have water service restored. He also said that she was told "the payment of the money in advance would somehow speed things up."

Following Kimmet's story, Council member James Ward made a motion to invite a representative of the Ohio Water Service Co. to the next City Council meeting.

Ward suggested that the water company spokesman could present his side of the problem and interested citizen's could attend to ask questions.

"This thing (complaints about water service) is mushrooming," Ward said, adding that there are two sides to every story and it should be brought out in the open.

Kimmet seconded the motion with "the safety and welfare of the citizens in mind."

Other members of City Council did not feel the proposed meeting would be such a good idea.

"I don't think a City Council meeting is a place for a public forum," Council member John Morris said. He added that Council should obtain legal advice from City Solicitor Gary D. Smith before making such a move.

Council chairman Bertha

McCullough expressed concern that the present Council meeting place, the basement of the Carnegie Public Library, would not be large enough to hold city residents concerned with the water service. She suggested that a public meeting not a Council meeting, could be held possibly at the Washington C.H. Fire Department.

Ward reminded Council that his motion to have a representative of the water company attend the next meeting had been seconded and should be voted upon.

Ward, Kimmet, and Billie Wilson voted in favor of the motion. Council members Ralph Cook, Joseph O'Brien, and Morris voted against the proposal, leaving the decision up to Mrs. McCullough, who had the final vote. She voted no and the motion failed.

Council members agreed that there was a problem with frozen water pipes and many residents were concerned. It was decided to bring up the problem at

Personnel matters occupy city solons

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald City Editor

After covering a light agenda Wednesday night, the Washington C.H. City Council recessed into executive session to discuss personnel matters.

Although executive sessions are private meetings, a group of Washington C.H. firemen shed some light on what Council was discussing behind closed doors when they attended Wednesday night's regular meeting at the Carnegie Public Library.

Cecil Seaman, president of the local International Association of Firefighters Union, told Council that he had sent a letter to City Manager George H. Shapter requesting that the fire department be given a chance to review any personnel policies before being approved by Council.

Seaman added that he had received no reply from Shapter on the matter.

Council member James Ward, who is the next Council meeting after the city solicitor had a chance to study the city's tariffs with the water company.

Although the motion to invite a water company spokesman to the next Council meeting was voted down Wednesday night, the water company would apparently not be opposed to such a meeting.

"We have done this in the past to discuss various problems," Jack Lago, assistant manager of the local office of the Ohio Water Service Co., said Thursday.

"If the city requested, we would attend the meeting and offer our opinions and answer general questions," Lago said. He added that the meeting would have to be an informative one and not a question and answer session.

He said general questions from City Council could be answered, but it would be too time-consuming to answer all the questions from individual citizens at the meeting.

chairman of Council's personnel committee, assured Seaman that once a draft of personnel policies is finalized by Council, copies will be sent to the heads of various city departments for inspection. After the draft is inspected and any revisions are made, the written policy will go to Council for final approval.

Council chairman Bertha McCullough disclosed Thursday that the executive session was held Wednesday to review rules and procedures for city personnel.

She said Council was attempting to put into written form "what we expect out of personnel." She said such policies as sick leave and vacations are also being discussed. However, possible salary increases for city employees have not been discussed. This will be brought up at a later date, ac-

Dynamite blast probe continues

CAREY, Ohio (AP) — The explosion of 20 tons of dynamite near this village shook northwest Ohio, popped nails from walls in a deputy sheriff's bedroom and caused property damage up to 20 miles from the rural scene.

No one was injured. But houses, barns and businesses were damaged, mostly in a northeasterly direction from the rural site 1 1/2 miles northeast of the village of 3,500 persons.

Sheriff Mark R. Kauble of Wyandot County said the dynamite owned by a stone quarry "was detonated by someone who had knowledge of explosives." He said there were no suspects in the Wednesday predawn blast but that his staff followed up reports from persons who claimed to have knowledge of the explosion.

"We're not pointing a finger at anybody," Kauble said. "But if it was done by someone locally we might have an arrest in a couple of days."

"The scene evidence indicates it was intentionally detonated and virtually eliminates the possibility of an accident."

Kauble declined to discuss the evidence.

"Dad said he at first thought it was an earthquake," said Bill Lindsay, 34, who rushed here from Defiance, Ohio, 40 miles away, when his father called. "I think that clump of trees between us and the dynamite was the only thing that kept it from leveling their home."

"All the windows are gone and the second floor of the house is shifted."

"I thought at first it was going to be a tornado," said John Greer, 73, who lives near the Lindsays. "But I looked out and saw a clear sky and I didn't know what it was." Greer's barn was moved on its foundation and its doors blown off. Glass littered the bed where Greer and his wife had been sleeping.

Both live a half-mile from the explosion of what Kauble estimated was 40,000-50,000 pounds of dynamite stred in a munitions-like magazine by the National Stone and Lime Quarry. Ray Brandon, director of safety for the quarry, declined to estimate the quantity of dynamite that went up but said "It was in the thousands of pounds."

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Kirk O'Ferrall

GREENFIELD — Mrs. Helen H. O'Ferrall, 83, of Palo Alto, Calif., died at 4:30 p.m. Monday in Stanford University Hospital, Palo Alto, Calif. Born in Greenfield, Mrs. O'Ferrall was the wife of Kirk O'Ferrall, who survives.

Also surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Thomas (Elizabeth) Reiland, Palo Alto, Calif.; a son, Lt. Col. David F. Gray, of Daytona Beach, Fla.; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Wilson (Mary) Miller, of Dayton, and a brother, John A. Head, of Greenfield. She was preceded in death by five brothers and a sister.

Graveside service will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday in Greenfield Cemetery with the Rev. Clarence Dinnen officiating. The burial will be under the direction of the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield.

CHARLES A. WHEELER — Services for Charles A. (Chuck) Wheeler, 14, of 1120 Yeoman St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Herman Day officiating.

The Wheeler youth, an eighth grade student at the Washington C.H. Middle School, died Saturday.

Pallbearers for the burial in the Milledgeville-Plymouth Cemetery were Anthony Mickle, Gary, Mike and Bruce Penwell, Roger Stiffler, Butch Ruth, Clark Lee and Jim Conley.

THOMAS WICAL — Services for Thomas Wical, 71, of 179 S. Howard St., Sabina, were held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. Lester Watts officiating.

Mr. Wical, a retired farmer, died Monday.

Mrs. Walter Stackhouse was the organist for the services. Pallbearers for the burial in Sabina Cemetery were Terry Richard, James Arehart, Richard and John Dailey, Joe Seville and Homer Wilson. Honorary pallbearers were Carmon Carey, Roy Bandy, Carl Fawcett, William Zurface, Herbert Spencer and Earl Richard.

GOP meeting

we deal with this issue, we're going to find out who works for whom: if the Democrats work for the labor bosses or for the citizens and taxpayers of Ohio."

Emphasizing the need for the strengthening of "Lincoln's party," Rep. Kurfess said, "We must take no one for granted. We dare not write off any segment of our society because if we ignore them, the Democrat party can take them for granted."

Rep. Kurfess explained how a recent poll revealed that people think it's harder to get into the Republican party than into the Democrat Party. "We've got to change our image with an awful lot of people."

"Beware of those who seek political election too strongly. Political ambition is important but it should grow out of the entire context of the candidate's life. We should keep in context our political responsibilities as individual Republicans as well as party candidates," he warned.

He concluded his speech saying, "I have a hunch we're going to be representing the communities to which we are elected a lot more effectively."

Others present at the annual Lincoln Day dinner were Sen. Sam Spock, Sen. Okaley Collins and State Rep. Bob McEwen, plus numerous other state and local Republican office holders.

Jane Bolton, president of the Fayette County Republican Women's Club, introduced Emerson Marting, who served as master of ceremonies. Jess Schlichter, chairman of the Fayette County Republican Executive Committee, introduced all of the party officers.

The Miami Trace Folksingers, under the direction of Richard Glass, provided entertainment for the program.

Mainly About People

Lu Ann Gifford of Washington C.H., a senior at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, Ky., has been assigned as a student physical education teacher at Tates Creek Senior High School in Lexington, Ky.

Betty Hill of 36 Railroad St., Jeffersonville, is a surgical patient in Greene Memorial Hospital, Xenia.

Thank You

We wish to thank our many friends, relatives, and neighbors who shared our sorrow and helped bear the loss we felt at the passing of Frank L. Green. Our family is especially appreciative of the excellent home care afforded him by Carrie Ingersoll, the professional services of Dr. Payton, the sympathetic care by the Fayette Memorial Staff, and the courtesy of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home. The singing of Harold Winfield and the comforting words of Reverend Wheat were especially meaningful to the family.

Weak lien law change approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives approved 88-7 Wednesday a watered down bill designed to protect Ohio's homeowners from unscrupulous and mismanaged construction companies.

However, it stopped short of repealing the embattled mechanics' lien law, and one disgruntled lawmaker who tried to beef it up on the floor said homeowners still would have to hire a lawyer to assure themselves of protection.

The chief sponsor, Rep. John D. Thompson Jr., D-15 Cleveland, said that while he wanted outright repeal of mechanics' lien—which can result in a homeowner having to pay twice for construction or materials—he was convinced the bill is the strongest that could get through the Senate.

Gov. James A. Rhodes vetoed a similar Thompson bill during the last legislative session. If he does so again, the Clevelanders will have to win three-fifths majorities of each chamber to override him.

Thompson has been trying for five years to get a bill enacted on the subject which tends to divide the lawmakers philosophically instead of along party lines.

The lobbying efforts of the legal profession, financial institutions and the construction industry were felt Wednesday on the House floor. The bill that emerged, instead of repealing mechanics' lien, enacts a separate law that covers construction work on one and two-family residential units only.

Rep. Scribner L. Fauver, R-54 Elyria, offered a floor amendment that would have restored the measure to the simple repealer it was before being riddled with amendments by the House Judiciary Committee.

His amendment, which failed 65-31, deleted requirements for the filing of notices by the various parties, the obtaining of lien releases from financial institutions, and other responsibilities Fauver said would require the services of an attorney.

Judiciary Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, argued against the Fauver amendment. He said that while the protection of the homeowner is desirable "the amendment removes all protections for the people on the other side of the equation (the builders)."

General provisions of the bill are as follows:

—Eliminates mechanics' liens in cases where the homeowner has paid in full the amount agreed to in a home purchase contract, limits mechanics' lien (for work, materials, machinery, or fuel used in construction) to the amount due the original contractor, limits the amount of all mechanics' liens that can be enforced, in lieu of foreclosure proceedings, to the amount due the original contractor.

—Requires a mechanics' lienholder to cause his lien to be released within 30 days after notice has been given of full payment to the original contractor, requires lending institutions to obtain certain lien releases before making payments to the original contractor, permits homeowners to demand certain lien releases from the contractor as a prerequisite to making payment, and requires homeowners and lending institutions to withhold payment of disputed sums to an original contractor if a subcontractor, material supplier, or laborer refuses to supply a lien release.

Chavez wins Teamsters struggle

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Years of farm labor strife marked by occasional violence in California appear to be ending with the giant Teamsters Union leaving the fields to Cesar Chavez' scrappy United Farm Workers.

Chavez and Teamsters International President Frank Fitzsimmons are to announce an agreement today which would split organizing rights: the UFW will get sole jurisdiction in the fields, the Teamsters sole jurisdiction over cannery workers.

Twice before, the bitter rivals reached agreements that failed.

The scheduled announcement at a 2 p.m. EST news conference at Western Conference of Teamsters headquarters in Burlingame comes after negotiations that began late last year. They were conducted quietly without the pressure of a crisis in the fields and with only occasional public comments from Chavez.

Chavez gained national fame when he struck the table grape workers of central California in 1965 and led a five-year boycott.

But the Teamsters Union was first to organize field hands. It signed a contract in the Salinas farming region in 1961 with Bud Antle, one of the nation's largest lettuce growers.

Almost a decade later, a battle for dominance in that region sparked the bitter dispute between the two unions.

Chavez accused the Teamsters of signing "sweetheart contracts" that benefited growers and claimed that only his union represented farm workers' interests.

Then in 1973, table grape growers signed with the Teamsters when their UFW contracts ran out. They said that Chavez had mismanaged the hiring hall from which they obtained workers.

The UFW struck, and Chavez ordered mass demonstrations that resulted in 3,500 arrests for violations of court-ordered limits on picketing at ranches.

Relatives await action on terrorists

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Relax and be patient," says the sign under the big red cross on the door of the church. But the people inside are not relaxed. They are not patient.

"How can we relax? Our mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers — the people we love are there," asks a girl who waits.

Ebbing and flowing, about 100 people wait for word about the fate of their relatives and friends who were taken hostage by terrorists Wednesday at the B'nai B'rith headquarters several blocks away.

They wait in a brightly lit, cot-lined basement of the Foundry Methodist Church. The mood is quiet, almost fragile. People speak very gently and politely. Two women hold hands, relatives embrace.

But there is a current of anger. Here and there angry young men in jeans and t-shirts huddle and mutter. They come in. They leave without explanation.

One young man exercises on the floor, stretching his legs, while a man being interviewed on television spouts hatred for Jews. The young man curses and sneers.

Later in the evening, the families meet with Dan Thursz, executive vice president of B'nai B'rith. He is trying to cording to Mrs. McCullough.

"It's about completed," Mrs. McCullough said referring to the draft of written personnel policies. "We pretty well got everything ironed out."

She also pointed out that Ward's statement to the firemen Wednesday night was accurate. The draft of policies will be sent to departments for input, before a policy is sent to Council for final approval.

"Everybody will have some input," she said.

Although Seaman and the five other firemen received an answer from Ward Wednesday night, their presence at the meeting created responses from Shapter and Council member John Morris.

Morris stated that the draft of personnel policies will go to the fire department and not to the local firefighters union. He pointed out that the union has never been officially recognized by Council.

Shapter said that the firemen's question should not have been asked at the meeting.

"This has no place at a City Council meeting," Shapter said. He added that all personnel matters should go through him and then to Council, and that he has been informing Council of personnel matters.

"If you don't think I have the best interest of the city employees in mind, you have a lot to learn," Shapter told the firemen.

TRUCK PURCHASE

Council was told that revisions of the specifications for two trucks, which are to be purchased for the city street department, have been completed. Shapter said the changes in the original specifications will be sent to prospective bidders in plenty of time to make adjustments of bids.

The revisions concerned changes in the engine axle, tire, wheel base, and bed specifications.

CITY BRIDGE

Morris stated that the city solicitor should check into a proposal from Fayette County Board of Commissioners that would require the city to replace a bridge on Oakland Avenue.

The bridge has been marked for replacement by commissioners as part of the proposed Wildman ditch project. It is believed the water passageway under the bridge could not handle the flow of water after ditch improvements are made.

My thanks to the friends who sent cards and flowers to me during my stay at Fayette Hospital and Grant Memorial. Special thanks to Dr. Gebhart, the Nurses, Rev. Russell and Hospital Chaplain and Kirkpatrick Ambulance Service.

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined again today as government figures confirmed Wall Street's fears of a two-digit rise in the wholesale price index last month.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped nearly 2 points in early trading, and losers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

As the market opened, the Labor Department reported that the wholesale price index rose 0.9 per cent in February after seasonal adjustment, for the equivalent of a 10m8 per cent annual rate.

The data reflected the effects of bad weather on agricultural product prices.

Stocks traded actively included Citicorp, down 1/4 at 28 3/4; General Motors, off 1/4 at 70 1/2; Sterling Drug, 1/4 lower at 15 1/4, and American Telephone & Telegraph, down 1/4 at 62 3/4.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 9.14 to 942.00, in its biggest drop since it gave up 9.64 points on Jan. 2.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 9-4 margin on the NYSE.

Warnke wins vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is giving President Carter the man he wants to negotiate nuclear weapons reductions with the Russians, but the vote confirming Paul C. Warnke was less than the two-thirds margin that will be needed to ratify any treaty he brings back.

Opponents viewed the 58-40 vote Wednesday as advance warning to President Carter and the Soviet Union that a new SALT treaty will undergo the most vigorous Senate examination and nothing short of equality will be accepted.

Supporters of the former assistant secretary of defense contended throughout the four-day Senate debate that Warnke has the capacity to be a "tough negotiator" despite his frequent

Sunday beer sale bill passes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Signs saying "no beer sold on Sunday" will probably come down soon in many areas of Ohio if a bill approved by the House on Wednesday becomes law.

With only brief debate, the House sent the Senate 64-29 a measure that permits Sunday sale of high powered (six per cent) beer along with wine and mixed beverages no stronger than 21 per cent alcohol, subject to approval at local option elections.

Rep. Patrick J. Seeney, D-6 Cleveland, found only one House member speaking against his Sunday beer and wine bill. It was just the opposite of the emotional, marathon debate seven years ago when the House okayed local options on Sunday sale of liquor by the glass.

Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, said the latest bill was not needed since beer drinkers have the option of stocking up for the weekend. He also charged that it came about as a result of pressure from owners of carryouts and other beer retailers. "A couple of special interest groups are going to get a lot of money," said Norris, whose House district claims to have been the birthplace of prohibition.

Sweeney brushed aside the Franklin County Republican's arguments, saying Ohioans have the right to make such decisions at the local level. The bill "just gives us a little addition reality," said the veteran Cleveland legislator.

Opinion And Comment

Loans for weatherizing

The National Rural Electric Cooperative Association came up with a good idea: a new federal loan program to finance rural home improvements designed to cut use of energy. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has seized upon the idea and set up such a program, which he says may be operational within a month and a half to two months. The concept is sound. Under the Farmers Home Administration, rural dwellers will be able to obtain small loans - on the order of $500 - for weatherizing their homes. The loans will be repayable over a five-year period. Meanwhile, both the borrowers and the nation generally will benefit: heating and air conditioning bills will be reduced, energy will be saved. There are good arguments in favor of a similar program for urban as well as rural homeowners.

THESE DAYS...By John Chamberlain

Who can speak for Canada?

When Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada visited President Jimmy Carter in the White House, one of the topics that was touched upon was the prospect of building a gas pipeline across Canada from the Alaskan North Slope to the northern part of the continental U.S.

But who can speak for Canada when it comes to problems that involve the country as a whole? Certainly not the Canadian Prime Minister.

Trudeau has been having his troubles with the French-speaking province of Quebec, where the separatist Parti Quebecois now rules. Stung by his inability to impose the rule of Ottawa on his own 10 provinces, Trudeau spoke in Washington of the need to replace the provisions of the British North American Act of 1867, which gives the provincial legislatures the power to run their own affairs.

Since the provinces make their own interpretations of citizens' rights, particularly in regard to taxation and property ownership, the central government can't really make a foreign policy decision involving such things as gas pipelines.

The problem of Quebec separatism is only one facet of a general problem that stands in the way of any Canadian national planning that might involve an agreement with the U.S. on such topics as gas transport.

To begin with, in three out of the four western provinces of Canada that border the U.S. the socialists of the New Democratic Party left-wing contend with the frequently outnumbered free marketers for control of basic economic resources. In Saskatchewan, the government has "nationalized" - i.e., provincialized - the potash mining industry. In Manitoba, international forest products companies have had to contend with the local urge to oust the foreigner. And in British Columbia, the voters have only recently put an end to three years of socialist experimentation that had the forest and mining industries on the ropes.

Only in Alberta, where there has been a genuine need for the oil expertise provided by visiting Texans, have the claims of freedom been honored.

To build a pipeline connecting the Alaskan North Slope gas deposits with the U.S. "lower 48" would be quite feasible from a technical point of view. It would also be possible to link northern Alaska with the U.S. by rail, as was suggested some time ago by John G. Kneilling, a consulting engineer, in Trains Magazine. The new "integral" tank cars would have been a plausible alternative to the pipeline that now connects the North Slope with the warm-water port of Valdez on the Pacific. Conceivably, liquid gas could be moved by train as well as oil.

But no matter what mode of transportation is suggested, the enterpriser who would connect Alaskan oil fields with the north central U.S. would have to reckon with provincial governments that make their own "foreign policy" economic decisions.

The extremes to which Canadian provinces can go have been devastatingly outlined in a sobering book by a British Columbia journalist, Paul Humes, called "Power Without Glory: The Rise and Fall of the NDP Government in British Columbia." In a three-year socialist interlude the British Columbia New Democratic Party of Premier David Barrett, a doctrinaire "nationalizer" (i.e., provincializer), did just about everything to make it impossible for automobile insurance agencies, farmers, lumber companies and mining prospectors to gain the natural rewards of their own enterprise.

Mineral exploration in British Columbia virtually came to a standstill with the passage of a Mineral Royalties Act in 1974 that sent prospectors north to the Yukon territory, where there was still a possibility of making a profitable strike. The state of Washington, which had been getting natural gas from British Columbia, suddenly discovered that its old contracts weren't worth very much.

Depression has recently brought British Columbians to their senses. But the tide of socialism still runs strong in western Canada. A gas pipeline across Canada to the U.S. would be an open invitation to punitive taxation.

Ohio Perspective

Man sparkplugs panel

By TOM DIEMER Associated Press Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Whether a new mental health commission proves to be just another layer of bureaucracy or an "action oriented" agency will depend largely on an imported, 33-year-old professional in the social services field.

Vincent D. Pettinelli, former deputy commissioner for mental retardation in Pennsylvania, was named recently executive director of the Joint Mental Health and Mental Retardation Commission, a $31,500 a year post. Pettinelli is responsible to a 13-member commission, appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes and legislative leaders last year to monitor the job being done by the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. "For a long time, Ohio has not been as progressive as it could have been," Pettinelli says. "I see Ohio taking a giant leap forward in playing catchup ball with some of the other states."

Pettinelli views the commission's role as that of a "catalyst to the department" and he plans to send staff members all over the state, visiting the various institutions.

"We're not interested in hiring theoreticians and we're not interested in hiring academicians," he said when asked about the kind of personnel he would recruit. "You can't find out what's going on by sitting in Columbus."

Dr. Timothy Moritz, director of the state department that will come under scrutiny, welcomed the commission.

"We see this not as a threat to the department, not as an adversary, but as additional eyes, ears and minds to help us get the job done," Moritz said at a joint news conference with Pettinelli.

Before his tour with state government in Pennsylvania, Pettinelli served as director of regional services for the South Carolina Department of Mental Retardation and director of education for the Mental Health Association in Houston.

He received an undergraduate degree from the University of St. Thomas in Houston and a master's in social work from Tulane University.

Pettinelli underwent postgraduate training at the Center for Developmental and Learning Disorders at the University of Alabama in Birmingham and taught social work at Temple University and the University of South Carolina. His wife is a social worker.

Pettinelli will operate on a budget of about $500,000 a year, he said, and plans to hire a staff of 25 to 30. He was chosen from among 500 applicants, according to Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Garfield Heights, sponsor of the legislation that created the commission.

Charles Dickens, commenting adversely on his visit to Upper Sandusky in 1842, wrote that he and his wife "spent a troubled night in a large ghostly room with doors that lacked fastenings, both opening on the wild country whenever the wind blew." — AP

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Lifer wants to donate kidney

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old man who is in Rutland, Vt., doing 30 years to life for second degree murder. I killed a 15-year-old girl. No reason. I just went off my rocker.

Now the problem: I read in your column that a lot of people need kidneys. I know that kidneys have been transplanted successfully, and I want you to put me in touch with someone who needs one so I can donate one of mine. I don't mean after I'm dead. I mean right now. I know a person can live with only one kidney so if I could give one of mine now maybe I could sleep better.

I realize I can't bring back that poor little girl whose life I took, but I could give some other person life. It won't balance the scales, but it would give some meaning to my life, which is practically useless now.

This letter was not written in haste. I've thought about it for a long time.

I'm not very religious, but God knows this is a sincere request. Can you help me get it granted, Abby?

GEORGE H.

DEAR GEORGE: I don't know the laws covering such a donation, but if you're sincere (and I believe you are) tell the chaplain of the correctional institution what you've told me, and he will advise you. God bless.

DEAR ABBY: A friend has asked me to play "Dear Abby" and mediate a fuss between her and her husband, and I honestly don't know what to tell her. It seems that her husband is bugged because she is always doing knitting, needlepoint or some kind of hand work when they're watching TV or just visiting.

He says she has all day to do whatever she wants, and when he comes home, she should give him her undivided attention. He wants her to look at him while they're conversing.

She says she can hear every word he says, and she DOES look at him almost constantly, so he has no legitimate beef.

I can see his point, Abby, but I can also see hers. Do you think he has the right to ask her to quit doing needlework in his face? And should she just to please him?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: He hasn't the right to ask her to quit. Handiwork for many (men as well as women) is therapeutic. It's relaxing and relieves tension. Tell her I said she should stick to her needlework — but look up a little more.

DEAR ABBY: I have a small but annoying problem I need help with. It seems that whenever I telephone a friend I haven't spoken to for some time, his or her first words are something like, "Well, I don't believe I am actually hearing from you," or, "My goodness, I thought you dropped off the edge of the earth, etc." (I'm sure you get the idea, Abby.)

It irks me to be put down with such a negative reception, when I have finally taken the initiative and called someone, as though it were MY obligation to do so.

It's the same kind of guilt some elderly folks or shut-ins lay on those who haven't been around to see them for a while. In other words, how does one cope with people who make you feel guilty? IRKED

DEAR IRKED: No one can make you feel "guilty" unless you've earned the guilt. (Irritated, put down and even outraged perhaps, but not guilty.) There's no way to prevent others from needing you. Develop a tougher side.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Thursday, March 10, the 69th day of 1977. There are 296 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1876, the first clear telephone call was made when Alexander Graham Bell summoned his assistant from another room in Bell's house in Boston, saying: "Come here, Watson. I want you."

On this date: In 1785, Thomas Jefferson was named the U.S. minister to France, succeeding Benjamin Franklin.

In 1848, the U.S. Senate ratified a treaty ending the Mexican War.

In 1864, Ulysses Grant was named Commander in Chief of Union forces in the Civil War.

In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Lendlease Act, providing for transfer of military equipment to the Allies in World War II.

Ten years ago: It was reported that Joseph Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Stalin, had defected from the Soviet Union and was seeking asylum in a European country.

Five years ago: Premier Lon Nol of Cambodia seized complete power as head of state and nullified the country's nearly completed constitution.

One year ago: Former President Richard M. Nixon said that public disclosure in 1969 of the secret U.S. bombing of Cambodia had forced him to ground the planes and had cost countless American lives.

Today's birthday: Queen Elizabeth's fourth child, Prince Edward, is 13.

Thought for today: Revenge is always the weak pleasure of a little and narrow mind. — Juvenal, Roman lawyer and satirist, about 60 to 140 AD.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FRIDAY, MARCH 11

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Don't be impulsive about making changes unless you are certain they will prove beneficial. Business pursuits highly favored.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

A fair day. You can manage in better-than-average fashion, yet must take precautions neither to underestimate nor overevaluate new propositions.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Your know-how and ability to handle the unexpected could result in outstanding advantages. Spend time and talents constructively. This day will be rich in opportunity.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Stress your innate enthusiasm and eagerness to do well but be willing, also, to WAIT out results, to accept temporary setbacks with inner calm.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You're in the spotlight now, with special emphasis on response to your efforts and presentation of ideas. Curb any tendency toward aggressiveness. Win your way through tact, diplomacy.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A day for action! Don't slow up progress by being overly meticulous, fussy, looking for nonexistent defects in your program.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

While you await new developments or results of efforts, proceed with other good plans, ideas. Don't sit back, satisfied with previous endeavors — or gains.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

A day in which to curb your natural Martian aggressiveness with intelligent self-discipline, moderation. Avoid extremes.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Neither fear to step into a new or changed picture, nor step too quickly before you are ready. Know your ground sufficiently and that of associates, too.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Speak in discreet words, with temperance and compassion foremost — it will work wonders now. Opposition? It can be a healthy challenge: Self-control!

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Give careful thought to decisions you must make soon. Try to understand thoroughly the jobs and involvements of the next few days. And be objective!

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Influences highly stimulating. Overzealousness, overreaching may tempt. Hasty words and deeds could cause endless redoing and undoing; leave scars, too.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a high order of intellect which, coupled with a strong intensity of emotion, fits you for a life of creativity. You express yourself best in music and literature, but you could also excel in the ministry, as a teacher of metaphysics, in the entertainment field, or as an actor or painter. Your intuition is outstanding, but you do not always make the most of these intuitive powers — sometimes to ill effect. Governed by Neptune, you are strongly attracted to professions or activities dealing with the sea; could also make a success of physics and chemistry — especially in the mixing and blending of liquids. You are not a good businessman, so don't look to success along those lines.

Annual Charity Ball planned

Beta Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Patti Everhart. Mrs. Ralph Leeds led the opening ritual. Plans were discussed for the joint meeting with Alpha Theta, Monday, March 21 at the home of Mrs. Lester Bower. Preparations will be finalized for the Annual Charity Ball, April 16 to be held at the Mahan Building.

While reading the Band Contract, Mrs. Leeds informed the group that the band previously known as "Bandions" is now known as "Chalice". Tickets may be purchased from any member of Beta Omega or Alpha Theta for $8. per couple after March 21. Mrs. Everhart has assumed chairmanship of the dance.

Arrangements for Daffodil Days supporting the Cancer Society which is scheduled for April 1 and 2, were discussed. Volunteers were sought for the pre-sale and delivery of daffodils and checking the selling stations April 1 and 2 which will be operated by the Camp Fire Girls.

Having an Easter Bake Sale April 8, as a pledge project was discussed and approved. The members also decided to make favors for the Awards Banquet at the April business meeting. After adjourning the meeting, Mrs. William Autrey shared her talent of making burlap flowers and each member

Eleven members of the Sunny-East Belles Homemakers assembled in the home of Mrs. Willard Greer for a carry-in supper and meeting Tuesday evening. Mrs. Robert Climer was assisting hostess. The table was centered with a St. Patrick Day motif, with matching appointments.

A brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Donald Belles. It was announced that Mrs. Dwight Foy will be hostess for the April meeting, assisted by Mrs. Larry Gilmore and Mrs. Robert W. Fries. The meeting will feature a silent auction. The place of the meeting will be announced later.

The group then motored to the Sew Sew Shop, where they were informed of the new spring knit fabrics, various types of knits, etc. by Mr. John Pursell, owner and manager of the shop.

Officers of the club are: President — Mrs. Foy; vice president — Mrs. Sheldon Grubb; secretary — Mrs. Roy Yahn; treasurer — Mrs. Belles; and program — Mrs. Fries.

Meetings are held monthly the second Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Those present were Mrs. Belles, Mrs. Ronald Burns, Mrs. Chester Clay, Mrs. Climer, Mrs. Clyde Estle, Mrs. Marie Estle, Mrs. Fries, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Greer, Mrs. Vada Moats and Mrs. Yahn.

Auxiliary plans bake sale

The first meeting of the Firemen's Ladies Auxiliary was held in the home of Mrs. Jay Smith. Mrs. Smith led devotions and Mrs. Connie Gault presented the treasurer's report.

It was decided to hold the annual Easter bake sale on April 9, at Murphy Mart, Washington Square. On May 6 and 7, the Auxiliary will sponsor a concession stand at the Sheep Show at the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

On March 31, members will meet at the home of Mrs. Ruth Cox to make posters. Mrs. Bertha Terry will be hostess for the next meeting April 25.

Present were Mrs. Gault, Mrs. Becky Seaman, Mrs. Blanche Michael, Mrs. Marilyn Severs, Mrs. Millie Helt, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Doris Smith, Mrs. Terry, Mrs. Pam Keller and Mrs. Smith.

present created a burlap flower plaque.

Mrs. Everhart served refreshments to Mrs. Leeds, Mrs. Autrey, Mrs. Harry Haines, Mrs. Jim McCracken and Mrs. Wayne Clark.

Father Petry CCL speaker

The regular monthly meeting of the Progressive Heirs Child Conservation League was held in the home of Mrs. Stephen Huffman.

Guest speaker Father David E. Petry of the Saint Colman Catholic Church spoke to the group on the spiritual development of children.

After refreshments were served by Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Roger Merritt, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Fred Doyle, president. There was an unanimous vote by the members to donate to the 1977 Junior Fair award program. Ideas for a fund-raising project were discussed, and final plans will be made at the April meeting.

President Doyle announced the selection of a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers for 1977-78. Also she noted that the CCL Spring Conference will be held May 7 at Scarlet Oaks Vocational School, Cincinnati, and for members to be thinking of ideas for the June meeting to entertain the children.

Those attending were Mrs. Neal Brady, Mrs. Willard Coil, Mrs. Gordon McCarty, Mrs. Roger Merritt, Mrs. Stephen Huffman, Mrs. Fred Doyle, and Mrs. Roger Snyder.

MISS ELSIE RUMER

Engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rumer, 1114 Staunton-Sugar Grove Road, which to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Elsie, to Greg Holdren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Holdren, of Wilmington.

Miss Rumer, a 1974 graduate of Miami Trace High School, is employed by the First National Bank of Washington C.H. Her fiancé, a 1971 graduate of Wilmington High School is employed by Clinton Auto Parts, Wilmington.

The wedding will be an event of April 8, in the Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union, with the Rev. Stan Toler officiating.

Marriage vows exchanged in Bloomingburg Church

Miss Faith Ann Dawes and Carl Michael Cottrill were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony in the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Vernon, 1101 Columbus Ave., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cottrill, 588 Bush Rd.

The Rev. Gerald Wheat officiated for the ceremony before two seven-branch candelabra and two bouquets of pink, blue and white roses, with carnations flanking the altar. Pink lighted tapers encircled with greenery were placed in the windows of the sanctuary.

Miss Sharon Cory, pianist, played O Perfect Love. Always, Because, Theme from Love Story, Theme from Romeo and Juliet, We've Only Just Begun, To a Wild Rose, I Love Thee and Be Thou Mine.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza with exquisite floral lace highlighting the bodice. Delicate white cotton lace and seed pearls traced the demure neckline, and long, sheer sleeves. The long, A-line skirt curved into a sweeping chapel train. Her chapel-length veil was of nylon illusion on a Camelot cap covered with sheer polyester, and trimmed with seed pearls and matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white, pink roses, blue and white carnations and baby's breath, tied with satin streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Mildred Dawes, maid of honor, wore a floor-length pin, floral cotton polyester gown featuring an empire waistline and short cape sleeves. She also wore baby's breath in her hair and carried long stemmed pink rosebuds tied with blue streamers.

Miss Roberta Jo Cottrill, sister of the groom, and Miss Lisa Garringer, cousin of the groom, were the bridesmaids. They wore blue, floral floor-length gowns with empire waists and long butterfly sleeves edged with white lace. They wore baby's breath in their hair and carried long-stemmed pink rosebuds tied with matching streamers.

Jamie Leeth was the flower girl. She wore a long silganza gown with pink bodice and white lace bib edged with pink velvet bow and streamers. Her white lace skirt came to points on the edge of the two overskirts. She had flowers in her hair and carried a basket of pink and white roses and pink and blue carnations with ribbon streamers.

Mike McDonald of Orlando, Fla. served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Kevin Ramey and Ray Crocker.

Mrs. Vernon chose for her daughter's wedding a long vanilla knit gown with matching jacket, with accessories of red. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. The groom's mother wore a jade floor length skirtwaist gown featuring long sheer sleeves and knife-pleated skirt. She had pearl colored accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The grandmothers wore pink carnation corsages.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the church. Hostesses were Susan Pavey, Tonda Coulter, Sally Leeth and Cherry Johnson. The serving table was covered with lace, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with bride and groom figurines, and encircled with greenery. Pink roses were on each tier of the cake. Mints, in the shape of blue and pink flowers, and punch served from a crystal punch bowl, completed the setting. George Dawes brother of the bride, presided at the guest book.

The new Mrs. Cottrill, a graduate of Washington Senior High School, is employed as a cashier. Her husband, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, is engaged in farming. They are living at Prairie Knox.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cottrill were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Rendezvous Room, and following the wedding they were also hosts at a buffet supper held in their home for members of the families and their guests. Assisting them were Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Dawson and Mrs. Donald Anderson.

Out-of-town guests came from Columbus, Shelby, New Holland, Williamsport, Vandalia and Cincinnati.

Antique bottle show is set

The Jefferson County Antique Bottle Club will hold its fourth annual bottle show and sale on March 20th at Saint Agatha Hall, adjacent to St. John Medical Center in Steubenville. The show will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Collections displayed this year will include medicine bottles, beers, inks, fruit jars, oil bottles and seltzers. Also among the many display items will be one of the largest displays of tri-state stoneware crocks and jugs ever shown in the area.

Fifty tables of bottles and related items will be presented for sale by dealers from six different states. Evelyn McIntosh is the public relations person.

Baptism attracts out-of-town guests

The Rev. Father David Petry officiated at the baptism of little Tarun Marie McNeill, at the Saturday evening Mass in Saint Colman Catholic Church, for the infant daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Evan McNeill of Fort Knox, Ky., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Spilker of 426 Woodland Drive. The godparents are Miss Jeannie McNeil and Phil Spilker of Baltimore, Md. Other guests present were Tarun's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan McNeill of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Phil Spilker Ned Spilker and Miss Susan Briggs of Cincinnati.

On Sunday, the group celebrated the birthday of little Brian McNeill, Tarun's brother, who was five years-old.

Illinois became the 21st state Dec. 3, 1818.

Execution date set for Springfield man

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A May 9 execution day has been set by the Supreme Court for a Springfield man convicted of murder largely on the basis of fingerprints found near the scene of a shooting death.

In a 5-2 decision Wednesday, the court upheld the murder, aggravated robbery and burglary conviction of George W. Miller, implicated in the shooting death of a department store maintenance man.

Police found Shirley Craycraft lying in the aisle of the Twin Fair Store with gunshot wounds in the head and neck shortly before 3 a.m. on Aug. 13, 1975.

Near the scene they found a paper sack filled with merchandise from the store and at the rear entrance they found a hacksaw and its carton. All bore the accused man's fingerprints.

But it was never established that the hacksaw was used to force open the locks, which had been jarred loose by some device. And no murder weapon or stolen goods were found in Miller's possession.

The court majority said the fingerprints were "sufficient proof of his identity to sustain his conviction where the circumstances show that such prints, found at the scene of the crime, could only have been impressed at the time of the commission of the crime."

Miller worked at the store for one month in 1972, according to testimony given by the store manager.

More than 20 individuals have been given dates with the electric chair since the high court began its review of death row cases last November.

Dissenting justices William B. Brown and Paul Brown said the majority opinion was based on circumstantial evidence that did not exclude "every reasonable hypothesis except that of guilt."

Writing for the minority, William B. Brown noted that the paper sack, the hacksaw and its cardboard package, which also Miller's fingerprints, were accessible to any person who shopped in the store.

William Brown said the evidence could link Miller to an overnight robbery, or burglary of which he was also convicted, but asserted it did "not directly tie Miller to the murder."

Jeep strike continues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

American Motors Corp. officials say there are no immediate plans to reopen contract negotiations with a striking United Auto Workers local at the firm's Toledo Jeep plant.

"We negotiated a contract in good faith.... The whole matter rests in the union's hands," a company spokesman said Wednesday.

The 4,600-member UAW Local 12 rejected the proposed pact by a 130-vote margin on Monday. The old contract, which expired Jan. 31, had been extended on a day-to-day basis before the local struck Tuesday.

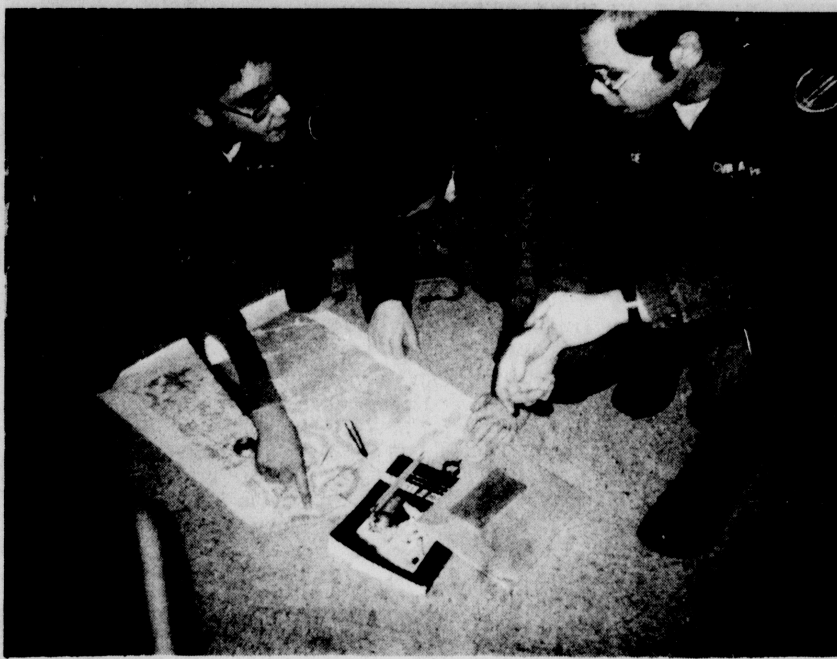

Union officials could not be reached for comment, but union members apparently were dissatisfied with the three-year wage package which provided for a 41-cent increase in the first year.

Meanwhile, UAW strikes at Chrysler Corp. and General Motors Corp. plants continued Wednesday.

Municipal Court

Terry Reese, 528 Warren Ave., was fined $50 by Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case Wednesday after being found guilty of disorderly conduct.

Judge Case suspended $30 of the fine on the condition that Reese does not enter the premises of 609 Delaware St. (Chick-N-Bill's Inn) for two years.

Former resident promoted with Columbus bank firm

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Linda J. Whiteside, formerly of Washington C.H., has been promoted to the position of public relations and communications administrator with the BancOhio-Ohio National Bank in Columbus.

The announcement was made today by W.C. Mercer, chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer of BancOhio-Ohio National Bank.

Miss Whiteside was previously employed as a clerical skills instructor in the personnel division of BancOhio-Ohio National Bank. She is a graduate of Ashland College with a bachelor of science degree in communications and radio-television.

A 1972 graduate of Washington Senior High School, Miss Whiteside is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Whiteside.

Two treatment plant officials attend wastewater workshop

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Orville Dixon, superintendent, and Richard Dixon, of the Washington C.H. sewage treatment plant, recently attended an extensive two-day workshop on wastewater treatment plant operations.

The course was conducted by the Ohio Operator Training Committee in cooperation with the Ohio Water Pollution Control Conference.

Class III and Class IV plant operation specialists from cities across Ohio were given technical training in the areas of variable speed pumping, ammonia analysis by electrodes, the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency role in sludge management, treatment of oily wastes, metal-bearing waste and toxic discharges, and energy considerations in wastewater plant design.

Environmental Protection Agency laws require that a Class III or Class IV operations specialist be in charge of wastewater treatment plant operations. To qualify for a Class III or Class IV certification, operators must have had up to five years working experience, technical training and successfully complete an extensive written examination conducted by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Grange members to clear roads

NEW MARTINSBURG — The Forest Shade Grange met Tuesday night and voted to clear Perry Township roads of litter again this year. Grange members will clear the roads Saturday, March 26.

Winfred Morgan was worthy master at the meeting and the grange's charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Minnie Smith, a past member of the organization.

Miss Louise Ritter presented the literary program using "March" as her theme. Articles were read by Miss Ritter, Mrs. Russell Grice, and Mrs. Morris Sollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ritter and Mrs. Florence Bethard were in charge of refreshments at the meeting.

It was also announced that the Pamona Grange will meet at the Forest Shade hall in April.

Officers check hit skip mishap

One hit skip traffic accident was reported by the Washington C.H. Police Department Thursday.

Don Cline, 412 Peddicord Ave., told police officers he had parked his car at Chick-N-Bill's Tavern off Delaware Street late Wednesday night. After returning to his car, he discovered it had been struck by another vehicle.

Man jailed after talk

WARRENSVILLE HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — Armed only with a good luck wish from President Carter, surrendered hostage-taker Cory Moore, 25, today was in county jail awaiting grand jury action on two preliminary kidnapping charges resulting from his two-day, siege at City Hall here.

Moore was jailed late Wednesday after receiving a telephone call from Carter which Secret Service agents at both ends of the special phone line would not allow anyone to monitor.

But as Moore was being whisked away to the Cuyahoga County Jail in Cleveland for detention in a cell in lieu of bonds totaling $200,000, he told reporters, "He (Carter) wished me luck."

The unemployed ex-Marine surrendered peacefully Wednesday morning as he said he would at the end of a Carter White House news conference which covered several topics including Moore.

Carter admitted that promising to talk to Moore even with the stipulation that he first release the second of two hostages might be setting a "dangerous precedent."

But moments after Carter completed the news conference—which Moore was watching on a television he had swapped earlier in the siege for 17-year-old hostage Shelley Kiggins—Moore gave remaining hostage Det.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior-show fans may grumble tonight. CBS has a fine two-hour drama, "A Circle of Children," competing with an excellent hour of Cole Porter's music on ABC. Take your pick.

The CBS show starts at 9 p.m. EST, concerns a school of emotionally disturbed youngsters and stars Jane Alexander, the Oscar nominee who also appears Sunday as Eleanor Roosevelt in an ABC drama.

In "Circle" she plays an affluent suburbanite who with her Women's League club visits the school on a dog-gorder's tour. The visitors are warned not to respond to the children.

She violates the warning, innocently winks at one emotionally troubled child in the arms of Helga, a seemingly stern, no-nonsense German-born instructor. Pandemonium breaks out among the kids.

Asked to leave by a thirtyish male instructor (David Ogden Stiers), the visitors flee. But Miss Alexander, moved by what she's seen, returns to apologize for the trouble she's caused.

After a scene in which it's made clear she faces life alone — her marriage is dying and her only child, a daughter, is in college — she returns to the school, asking to work as an unpaid teacher's aide.

And the lady, holder of a master's degree in sociology, is assigned to work with Helga (Rachel Roberts), a woman of little formal education but brilliant

OFBF leaders set capitol trip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eighty-two county Farm Bureau presidents from around Ohio will go to Washington, D.C., next week to talk with Ohio congressmen about upcoming legislation. They also hope to have a visit with Vice President Walter Mondale.

The Farm Bureau representatives plan to discuss a program sponsored by Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga, which would replace the current farm program which expires at the end of this year.

The state delegation will leave Ohio next Monday and will meet congressmen at a Tuesday morning luncheon. Plans are to try to see Mondale and U.S. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland later in the day.

Nichols selected as bank chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — R. Hal Nichols of Sharon Center in Medina County, has been named Superintendent of Banks by Gov. James A. Rhodes, filling the unexpired term of F. Scott O'Donnell, the governor's office said Tuesday.

Nichols, 34, a vice president of the commercial loan department of the Old Phoenix National Bank, Medina, and a former national bank examiner, will assume the new post on April 3.

Gov. Brown receives personal view

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Shortly after midnight on a recent Sunday morning, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. hopped out of a police patrol car and watched as officers performed a routine car check.

A weekend earlier, Brown — unescorted and unannounced in advance — spent the night in a decaying San Francisco tenement building called "The Pink Palace," talking with tenants and exploring the neighborhoods in his denims.

He spent six hours last Christmas Day visiting patients and talking with staff workers at a ward of one of California's state mental hospitals.

Brown spent a day a few weekends later, again unannounced, with the community advisory board at another state hospital.

These unconventional trips are all part of a process which the 38-year-old Democrat describes as gathering "uncensored" data on social problems and government programs.

Brown says he gets a more accurate view of how things are working, "or, very often, how they are not working," by bypassing the bureaucracy and the advocates of special interests and going directly to people.

"I intend to continue it, yes," Brown said of his weekend excursions after spending half of the graveyard shift in a Santa Ana police patrol car.

"I find it a very useful tool to separate the rhetoric from the reality," Brown said. "Too much of government is paper and collecting money. A lot more of it should be finding out what happens to it, and that's what I intend to do."

"I get firsthand knowledge uncensored by the normal channels," the bachelor governor said. "In my position, much of the information is filtered."

Bits of bone prove puzzling

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Medina County authorities said Wednesday the bones and teeth found near a Hinckley Lake boathouse were determined to be of human origin, but Cuyahoga County authorities disagreed.

A Cuyahoga County official who declined identification said the remains appeared to be those of a dog.

A bit of bone said to be part of a skull was given to a Case Western Reserve University anthropologist for further study.

The Ohio Legislature held its first meeting in Columbus in 1816.—AP

the realities we are trying to deal with," he said.

Brown, who spends many of his other weekends visiting or hosting authors, philosophers, professors and advocates of various causes, said he views his visits with those people in a similar light as his visits to the police department.

"I divide government into two powers: the coercive power and the persuasive power."

"The coercive power is the power to tax and pass new laws and send you to jail. That's the power people think of when they ask: 'What are you doing?' "There's another power, to persuade, to inspire, to provide leadership by encouraging cooperation and bringing people together. What I'm doing is putting a definite amount of time and effort into the second power that this office carries with it, because I think that's an untapped resource."

Crum named as Ohio's Easter Seal chairman

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Television sports director Jimmy Crum has been selected as state Easter Seal chairman for an unprecedented third year. The announcement was made at the February board meeting of the Ohio (Easter Seal) Society for Crippled Children and Adults in Columbus.

"This is the first time a state chairman has been asked to serve for three years," commented Richard E. Plum, board president. "We are delighted to have Jimmy on our team again. He is doing an outstanding job for Easter Seals, and we're looking forward to an even better year in 1977." The Easter Seal campaign began March 1 and will extend through Easter Sunday, April 10.

Crum, sports director for WCMH-TV in Columbus for 24 years, has appeared in dozens of Ohio counties supporting local Easter Seal activities. "He is a talented and entertaining dinner speaker and has been a frequent guest on local television and radio talk shows during our campaign," Plum said.

A popular emcee for community and sporting events, Crum is part of the play-by-play team for the Cincinnati Bengals radio network. His coverage of Ohio high school basketball tournaments is carried on a statewide radio network.

A native of Mansfield, he began his broadcasting career for WMAN Radio at the age of 14. After a tour in the U.S. Marine Corps with Armed Forces Radio, he attended Ohio University majoring in radio. He was sports director for the university station (WOUI) and sports announcer for WRFD radio in Worthington before joining WLWC-TV in 1953.

Crum's interest in the handicapped dates back many years ago, when he was inspired by the courage of a young polio victim at Children's Hospital in Columbus.

In 1965, he personally initiated the non-profit "Recreation Unlimited" fund at TV-4, which has raised more than $235,000 in 12 years to send handicapped children to summer camp.

Crum is former chairman, Franklin County Society for Crippled Children, and past state chairman, Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness. He is a member of the exclusive Headhunters Club, Ohio University Alumni Club, board of trustees of United Cerebral Palsy Foundation of Columbus and Franklin County, and board of directors, Ohio Athletic Association for the Mentally Retarded. Crum is a board member of both the Franklin County and Ohio Easter Seal Society. He helped organize the Columbus-Dayton local of American Federation of TV and Radio Artists and is a member and past president of the Ohio Sportscasters Association. Last year, he was appointed by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes to the new State Occupational Therapy Board.

The Easter Seal Society is the oldest and largest voluntary agency providing direct rehabilitation services to handicapped persons of all ages. Last year, the Easter Seal Society provided services to a total of 27,486 handicapped children and adults in Ohio. The non-profit organization was founded in Elyria, Ohio in 1919. It has 77 affiliates in Ohio, and is part of a nationwide federation of 52 state and territorial societies.

EMPLOYEE HONORED — James E. Pease, left, of Xenia, recently was honored at the Defense Electronics Supply Center in Dayton for having completed 25 years in government service. He was presented with a certificate and pin commemorating the occasion by U.S. Air Force Col. Maximilian Lamont, center deputy commander. Pease served on active duty with the U.S. Air Force from 1950 to 1954 and has been employed at the Defense Electronics Supply Center since December 1955. He is married to the former Ruth Ann Brown, daughter of Vora F. Brown of Washington C.H.

Ohio senior citizens gaining strength, making voice heard

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's senior citizens apparently are having their voice heard more strongly in Ohio's legislature, just as they have in Congress in recent years.

Political scientists say it is because longer life trends and a nationwide baby "bust" are combining to make the elderly into a larger and more significant voting bloc.

Drug and utility bills are two areas in which relief could come this year on the state scene, although envisioned state subsidies for gas and electric bills could be jeopardized by fund shortages.

However, hearings got under way in both the Senate and House this week on identical bills that could give not only senior citizens but other segments a break in the purchase of prescription drugs.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, took before the Senate Education and Health Committee Tuesday night his measure allowing pharmacists to substitute less costly generic products for brand name prescription drugs.

Freeman, who said he has been working on his legislation for 18 months, was surprised a week before when a carbon copy of it emerged in the House.

Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, introduced that measure which was scheduled to be heard today by the House Judiciary Committee. Identical bills can emerge in separate chambers when the same requests are submitted to the billdrafting Legislative Service Commission.

Freeman quoted the welfare department as saying his bill could result in a savings in Ohio of $1 million to $5 million a year, since drugs can vary widely in price from one pharmacy to another.

He said the bill permits the pharmacist to select a less costly drug than the one prescribed if the doctor permitted the druggist to select an alternative product and pass the savings to the customer.

The Stark County lawmaker gave assurances that the legislation "will do nothing to disrupt the patient-doctor-pharmacist relationship."

He said once the public is educated about the measure "the savings to those on fixed incomes and the elderly who depend on medication to survive is incalculable."

Meanwhile, hearings are continuing in the House on a measure by Rep. Dennis E. Eckart, D-18 Euclid, which would have the state pick up 25 per cent of the gas and electric bills of Ohioans 65 and over, during the heating season November through April. It also would include help for disabled Ohioans.

Eckart's bill, however, is predicated upon the ability of the finance committees in the legislature to come up with $40 million to $60 million the subsidy package would cost.

At the same time, efforts are under way in the legislature to increase the income limitation to qualify for the homestead property tax exemption from $10,000 to $15,000 a year. The homeowners 65 and over who occupy their own homestead. property tax break currently is given to

Food delivered to over 600 area residents

Red Cross aided needy in blizzard

The blizzards and arctic weather of January, which brought the Washington C.H. area to a virtual standstill, are now but memories. Of course, there remain tell-tale signs which serve as reminders of the unprecedented sub-zero weather including the pot-holed roads and soaring utility bills; the still-lowered thermostats and the assortment of long Johns which remain on stand-by status.

In retrospect, Fayette Countians can all give a hugh sigh of relief and say, "Well, we survived it". But, the fact that snowbound, stranded, hungry, unemployed Fayette Countians did make it through the January crisis can be attributed in part to the Fayette County chapter of the American Red Cross.

Helen Slavens, executive secretary of the local Red Cross, and Tom Mark, chairman of the board of directors of the Fayette County Red Cross chapter, recently discussed the organization's activities during the incapacitating weather.

Miss Slavens and Mark explained how the food that was dropped from Ohio Army National Guard helicopters and delivered to at least 600 Fayette Countians was supplied by the Red Cross. The food that was served at the National Armory came from the Red Cross federal storage center. Also, the local organization purchased milk, eggs and bread from Fayette County stores because these commodities, which were in great demand, weren't obtainable through the national Red Cross organization, whose supply had been depleted.

"We worked very closely with other organizations during the period of emergency," Miss Slavens, who has been affiliated with the Red Cross since January 1976, explained. "Each organization was doing its particular function, and the Red Cross, whose primary responsibility was to purchase and distribute food, was doing that."

According to Mark, disaster relief is one of the main functions of the Red Cross and in January, Fayette County, as has never happened before, needed this particular type of assistance. Food, clothing and shelter were provided by the organization.

Pointing out that the Red Cross receives a major part of its funding from Community Chest, Miss Slavens reported that approximately $1,900 was taken from the Fayette County Red Cross funds to purchase food, and that nearly $700 was received in donations from local people.

The Red Cross, which functions as an official liason between military personnel and civilians, also sponsors a local swimming program and First Aid Course, as well as a group of volunteers called Gray Ladies who are very active in the Veteran's Administration Hospital, Chillicothe. Miss Slavens said, "The Red Cross is usually associated with its blood bank program

During the bad weather, when things were confusing to say the least, the Fayette County Red Cross received approximately 50 gallons of milk which was taken from a milk truck that was stranded at a service station in Washington C.H. Because the milk couldn't be delivered in the routine manner, it was decided that it should be distributed in the Washington C.H. area where it was badly needed. Miss Slavens doesn't know where the milk came from, but would like to be informed of such. "If the suppliers of the milk, whoever they are, want to consider it a donation, that would be fine, but we would still like to know where the milk came from."

Miss Slavens, who was helped during the crisis by Red Cross volunteers Mr. and Mrs. Paul Woods and Mrs. Delbert Knisley, said that she would like to convey to all those who received food from the Red Cross during the emergency that any donation from them would be greatly appreciated and would help defer the costs of the food.

Donations to the local Red Cross would help out tremendously since, who knows, we may be confronted with another crisis in the near future and the Red Cross, like any other volunteer organization, needs funds in order to operate.

ODNR eyes red tape elimination

Boaters urged to register early

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) today urges Ohio boaters to register their watercraft early this year.

According to Norv Hall, chief of ODNR's Division of Watercraft, the division is working to eliminate some of the red tape involved in registering boats.

He explained that a bill written by ODNR will be forwarded to the Ohio General Assembly, which will provide for mailing renewal registrations directly to boaters on a triennial schedule. To further simplify the process for boaters, the proposed legislation would not require the registration of outboard motors.

"Due to the manual processing of registration forms, it takes the average boater several months to record his registration properly with the Division of Watercraft," Hall said.

"To assure that the new system will be efficiently phased into the present system, it is essential that boaters provide accurate and current addresses and information when registering their boats for 1977. Early registrations will aid in phasing in the new system."

The 1976 registration expired March 1. This year's boat and motor registrations are available from agents throughout the state.

Agents in Fayette County are Philip L. French, Lakewood Sportsman, 5101 CCC Highway-W, and Harold Stewart, Stew's Automotive Service, 717 Western Ave.

Annual fees for watercraft and outboard motor registrations are:

outboard hulls, rowboats, canoes, barges or rafts, $1; sailboats and outboard motors, $3; inboard powercraft and sailboats with auxiliary in-board engines less than 100 horsepower, $7.50; inboard powercraft and sailboats with auxiliary inboard engines 100 horsepower or more, $10.

A writing fee of 50 cents, in addition to the regular fee, is charged by the licensing agents for each registration issued.

Temporary 21-day registrations for both boats and outboard motors are available for boaters wanting to use their boats immediately, but experiencing difficulty in obtaining a permanent registration.

Boaters registering boats 14 feet or longer and motors 10 horsepower and more, must present their title to get a registration. Watercraft titles are stamped annually at the time of registration, just as automobile titles are.

Those individuals who acquired boats before Jan. 1, 1964 when the state's watercraft titling law became effective, are not required to present a title when registering the craft.

Traffic Court

A 29-year-old Zanesville man, who was arrested by Fayette County Sheriff deputies and an Ohio Highway Patrol officer Tuesday, was fined $175 and sentenced to 120 days in jail by Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case.

Durward K. Jennings was stopped by the Ohio Highway Patrol officer Tuesday on a routine traffic check. However, he fled the scene on foot and was apprehended later with the help of Fayette County sheriff's deputies.

Jennings was fined $100 and received the jail sentence on a driving without a valid operator's license charge. He was fined $75 for fleeing police officers.

Four speeding waivers were signed in Municipal Court Wednesday. Signing the $30 waivers were Hershell G. DeBusk, 40, Middletown; John A. Evans, 29, of 814 E. Temple St.; David W. Patterson, 32, Columbus; and Cecil D. Dalton Jr., 26, Bainbridge.

Grant awarded for seminar

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A $17,200 grant has been awarded to the University of Toledo's Business Research Center to finance a nine-week management seminar for executives in municipal and other local governments in northeastern Ohio.

The grant, distributed by the Ohio Board of Regents, will also involve the University of Akron. The participating institutions and agencies will provide some $8,600 in matching funds for the project.

The program is to begin Aug. 1.

Mort Sahl drops lawsuit plans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — He's not exactly burying the hatchet, but comedian Mort Sahl says he's giving up the idea of a lawsuit against entertainer Frank Sinatra.

"I'm trying to give the courts a better press," Sahl said in a telephone interview Wednesday.

Sinatra sued Sahl in Los Angeles Superior Court in 1974, claiming Sahl had only paid off half of a $20,000 loan made 10 years earlier.

The suit was filed a month after Sahl had commented on Sinatra's attacks on a Hollywood gossip columnist.

Sahl's attorney, Ronald H. Rouda, said then that Sahl was considering a countersuit. But Sinatra's case was dismissed when he refused to give a deposition last January.

Objectives for 1977-1978 studied

Chamber board eyes future goals

The Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors took significant steps Wednesday toward preparing for the coming Chamber year.

A sizeable task looms for the new year which begins July 1. The board gave initial approval to recommendations for a set of 1977-1978 Chamber goals, welcomed two new Chamber members, and established a new investment schedule.

Three committees presented their recommendations for 1977-1978 Chamber goals. They were the public image committee, the industrial committee and the professional committee. From these and other committee reports which will be completed this month the board will formalize its objectives for the coming year.

New Chamber members were the Sam Parrett Insurance Co., 144 S. Fayette St., represented by Rowland LeMaster, and Moore Adcrafters, CCC Highway-W, represented by Don Moore. The board welcomed these firms who are "joining the Chamber's effort to help build a better community for all Fayette County residents,"

according to George Malek, Chamber executive vice president.

The board reviewed the Chamber's financial statement and approved a recommendation from the Chamber's funding committee that the annual membership be increased to $75.

It was noted that the only increase in Chamber membership cost in nearly a decade in 1973. That increase was only $5, raising the dues from $50 to $55.

In order to meet rising operating costs and embark on a more active program in 1977, the board felt the increase was not only necessary, but also justified.

Goal recommendations which were approved for further study included an increased political awareness program, preservation of railroad service to the industrial park, improved recreational facilities in Fayette County, greater contact with members to obtain their suggestions for Chamber projects, to display products manufactured locally, and a campaign urging the public to patronize Chamber members.

These and several other projects will eventually be incorporated in the Chamber's "Program of Work 1977-78."

FUN NIGHT, April 2, was discussed by program chairman James Polk. He noted that at present holders of Fun Night tickets have a one in 100 chance of winning $1,000. Total cash prizes for the annual social event will be $1,400 and to date only 100 tickets have been sold.

The program begins with a social hour at 6 p.m. and includes dinner, entertainment, dancing and cocktails, as well as a chance to win as much as $1,000. Tickets are $25 each and may be purchased from any board member or at the Chamber office.

Briefly discussed were B-I-E Day and the Ohio Chamber's Legislative Conference, both of which will be held next Wednesday.

Businesses, Industry, Education Day brings sophomore students from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools together with professionals from a variety of career fields to help students plan the remainder of their high school education.

During the legislative conference in Columbus, a delegation of local officials will meet with state politicians to discuss local and state government.

Groucho Marx

having good time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Groucho Marx may be in the hospital recuperating from hip surgery but the 86-year-old comedian is reported to be having a wonderful time, a family spokesman said. And some of the nurses at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center are joining in by wearing Groucho Marx T-shirts.

Marx entered the hospital Friday for surgery to insert a new right hip joint. Pains in his leg, which troubled him during a dinner with actor Elliott Gould, have subsided since the surgery to correct a floating fracture of the hip.

"I'll do anything to miss my cook's food," Marx quipped after entering the hospital, the spokesman said Wednesday.

FMC plant shut down

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The FMC Corp. began shutting down its factory here after a federal judge ordered a halt to production and discharge of a chemical that has turned up in the drinking water supplies of Ohio River communities.

The decision to temporarily close the plant, reached Wednesday by U.S. District Judge Charles Haden in Parkersburg, would affect an estimated 1,200 employees, said Bill Currey, an FMC spokesman.

In issuing a 10-day temporary restraining order, Haden indicated he was more worried about the 1.28 million persons who rely on the river for their drinking water.

"I can't ignore that," he said, noting that he had to balance the interests of the FMC employees with the potential public health hazard.

Haden ordered the firm to stop production of carbon tetrachloride, a substance that has been spilled into the Kanawha River and traveled downstream to the Ohio on numerous occasions. He said FMC could place whatever amounts of the chemical it already had on hand in its storage tanks.

Drugs seen link in 11 murders

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police from Ohio and Kentucky were meeting today to look for a common denominator—possibly narcotics—in the murders of 11 young women since 1975.

Jack Leach, chief investigator for Hamilton County Coroner Frank Cleveland, who arranged the meeting, confirmed that a May 1976 seizure of a boat containing 9 1/2 tons of marijuana in Mississippi might be a possible link.

"One of our purposes is to see if this could be, in fact, a common tie," Leach said. But Leach said the primary purpose of the meeting is to share investigation material on all the slayings to determine if there are common threads that might link them together.

All the bodies were found in rural areas, most were nude or partially nude. Leach said the original estimate of 16 was reduced to 11 when five were eliminated through being solved or having no apparent similarity. Cleveland's office conducted all the autopsies on a cooperative basis. Cleveland said two of the 11 have been solved but were included in the probe because of similarities to the other nine cases.

Kentucky State police, the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Cincinnati police homicide squad were invited. Other authorities and the numbers of killings under investigation in their districts are: Hamilton County, three; Clermont County, two; and one each in Butler, Warren and Clinton counties.

Leach said he would neither confirm nor deny the list of the victims published Wednesday by The Cincinnati Enquirer.

The list included: Hamilton County: Mary Ruth Hopkins, 21, Cincinnati, June 30, 1976; Linda Dyer, 15, Cincinnati, Aug. 24, 1976; Dorothy Sullivan, 18, Cincinnati, Aug. 28, Earl Elder, Cincinnati, was convicted in the Sullivan case and sentenced to 25 years.

Kentucky: Susan Gorman, 19, Cincinnati, Dec. 3, 1975. Carol Sue Klaber, 16, Fort Wright, June 5, 1976 and an unidentified woman found April 17, 1976 in Grant County. John Boyd, 49, Midletown, a mental patient, was convicted for the Gorman slaying.

Clermont County: Linda Kay Harmon, 17, Forestville, Sept. 2, 1975; Nancy Grigsby, 23, Witamsville, May 9, 1976.

Clermont County: Cora Ellen Durham, also known as Tamya Ellen King, 27, Cincinnati, June 20.

Butler County: Victoria Hinchey, 24, Cincinnati, Oct. 31, 1976.

Clinton County: Elaina Bear, 15, Cincinnati, Feb. 28, 1977.

Leach said Montgomery County authorities asked to attend the meeting as observers.

The Enquirer reported many of several victims knew each other and some of those arrested in the Mississippi narcotics seizure.

Local Legion post to mark 58th birthday next Friday

The Paul H. Hughey American Legion Post 25 will celebrate its 58th anniversary Friday, March 18.

Vora Brown Jr., American Legion post commander, said a dinner and dance will be held at the Legion home on N. Fayette Street beginning at 7 p.m.

The featured speaker for the anniversary celebration will be Edlen O. (Dan) Bohn, of Columbus, second vice commander of the 133,000-member Ohio American Legion. He was elected to the post at the veteran organization's 58th annual state convention in Columbus last July.

A U.S. Air Force veteran of the Korean War, Bohn joined the Carroll American Legion Post 31 in Westminster, Md., in 1953. His Ohio American Legion membership includes two years in Dayton Post 5 prior to transferring to Bexley Post 430 when he relocated in the Columbus area.

Bohn has served in most major committees and officer roles in Bexley Post 340; was 12th district (Franklin County) finance officer in 1971; served as both second and first vice commander of the district in 1972, and in 1973 was elected as its commander.

He is employed as finance director of a large Columbus auto dealership.

House built wrong place

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Because a contractor put a house on the wrong lot, Gaylon Simmons faces the prospect of paying $193,471.66 to build a home for his neighbor.

Simmons' neighbor, John L. Sagers, said he recently visited his own lot in Chateau Estates — a suburban subdivision — with plot map in one hand and plans for his proposed new home in the other.

"I was certain I was looking at my lot, but there was an almost-completed house on it," Sagers said. "I had my surveyor go back out and resurvey, and they confirmed what I suspected — someone was building a house on my lot."

Sagers says the house, about a month short of completion, is his, now: "As I understand Louisiana law, it is rather explicit about land ownership and the fact the owner also owns any improvements."

Simmons, vice president of Louisiana State Gas Association, says his surveyor erred, and he has asked a court for help.

Southwest District stars named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Ron Holtrey and his star Lebanon player, Jim Rhoden, have won The Associated Press' main honors this season in Ohio Southwestern District high school basketball.

Holtrey guided Lebanon to 18 straight triumphs this season and a district panel of sports writers tapped him for the Southwest Class AAA Coach of the Year crown.

Rhoden, a 6-foot-6 senior who averaged 20.7 points and 13 rebounds, earned the area AAA Player of the Year honors. Rhoden, highly sought by colleges, led Lebanon to a 39-1 record going into this year's tournaments.

Dave McCurdy, a 6-1 Springfield Catholic star with 22 points and 12 rebounds per contest, and 6-1 Carlisle senior Eddie Crowe, hitting 22 points a game, shared the Southwestern Class AA Player of the Year award.

Bob Velton of Reading, with no

starters taller than 6-2, guided his team to a 15-3 record and the Hamilton County National championship. His lineup was an untested senior, two juniors and two sophomores. That earned him area AA Coach of the Year.

The Class A district honors went to 6-1 Arcanum senior Kevin O'Dell, 23.2 points per game, as the No. 1 player and Coach Jack Young, who is turning New Miami's program around. Young was 4-15 in his first season and 10-8 this time in his second try.

'Gas House' revisited

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — You can almost see the flashing spikes of Pepper Martin and hear the thundering footsteps of Frankie Frisch as the St. Louis Cardinals go through spring training at Busch Field.

They're the new "Gas House Gang," and the man breathing new spirit into them is one who grew up in the shadows and tradition of one of baseball's most exciting legends.

"Pride and discipline, they're our watchwords," says Vern Rapp, the new manager of the Cardinals, successor to Red Schoendienst. "I was born in St. Louis. The 1934 World Series champions were my idols.

"I was just six years old, but I remember Dizzy and Paul Dean, Pepper Martin and Ducky Medwick. The red, white and blue stockings, the red bird on the chest of the uniforms — these were symbols of a slashing, aggressive brand of baseball.

"It's a spirit and togetherness that I would like to instill in this team. My personal goal is to give the team this brand — whatever is needed to win a ball game, we will do it."

The iron discipline of the 48-year-old one-time Cardinal catcher, involving the rigid personal appearance code of the champion Cincinnati Reds and New York Yankees, has given the 1977 Redbirds a deceptive look.

They could be the new pretty bullies of baseball.

No shaggy long hair, beards or mustaches. No sloppy blue jeans, stockinged feet and sandals in hotel lobbies or on airplanes. Hair neat and moderate length. Suits and jackets in public places.

"I don't go around with a micrometer to measure hair," Rapp says, "but the rules are firm.

"This isn't just a fetish with me. Baseball is a team game. There is a growing tendency toward individualism — everybody doing his own thing. My feeling is that discipline welds the team into a unit. What you do together, you achieve together."

Rapp doesn't try to conceal the fact that there have been objections. There still is some lockerroom grumbling but most players have come to accept the edict philosophically.

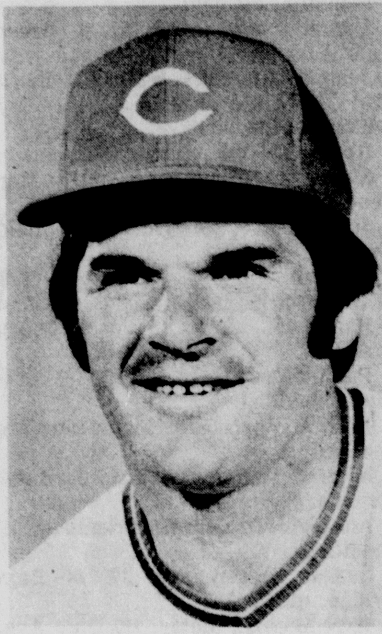

The biggest protest came from pitcher Al Hrabosky, who was proud of his sinister Fu Manchu mustache and beard. "It helped me win games," he said. "It helped intimidate batters."

The new Cardinals look like a drill team as they go through two workouts daily in matching sweat suits — red jackets, blue pants, red sneakers — under the tutelage of a 72-year-old former St. Louis University physical education professor, Dr. Walter Eberhardt.

Although he started out in the Cardinal chain, Rapp joined the Cincinnati organization in 1969, beginning a seven-year hitch as manager of the Reds' AAA farm team in Indianapolis.

He denies that his strict appearance code was borrowed from the Reds' Sparky Anderson. "It's through the entire system," he said. "President Bob Howsam is responsible."

PETE ROSE

promised others would be coming. For Brett, at least, no salary cut was involved.

Rose remains unsigned

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mark Fidrych picked up where he left off last season, pitching three scoreless innings for the Detroit Tigers in a 5-4 exhibition opener against the Boston Red Sox, but there was discontent at Cincinnati's camp as the Reds' 10-time All-Star third baseman Pete Rose refused to sign his contract.

In the Detroit-Boston game Wednesday at Winter Haven, Fla., Jason Thompson, Ben Oglivie and Mickey Stanley cracked home runs for the Tigers. Fidrych, the American League's Rookie of the Year who won 19 games last year, gave up only three hits in three innings.

At Tampa, Fla., Rose said he wouldn't sign, and decried what he called a lack of appreciation by the Reds for his dedication. He said he might play out his option because of the bitter salary dispute.

"Why are they negotiating on the date of my birth rather than on my batting average?" said the 36-year-old Rose, who has batted .300 in 11 of his last 12 years.

Rose has played 2,184 games in his 17-year career with the Reds' organization.

Oral Roberts still loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Sixty-five points don't mean a thing because we lost," said a dejected Anthony Roberts, whose record 65-point output could not prevent a 90-89 loss by Oral Roberts to Oregon in an opening-round game of the National Invitation Tournament.

The 6-foot-6 senior connected on 25 field goals and 15 free throws Wednesday night, breaking the NIT record of 53 points by George Mikan in 1945.

In other NIT opening-round games, Virginia Tech beat Georgetown 83-79, Villanova defeated Old Dominion 71-68 in overtime and Houston edged Indiana State 83-82.

Virginia Tech rallied from a 40-37 intermission deficit against Georgetown, and along with the other winners, earned a berth in next week's NIT quarter-finals at Madison Square Garden, against the winner of tonight's Alabama-Memphis State game. Virginia Tech won the NIT title in 1973. Villanova trailed Old Dominion's

Monarchs for most of the game before inching ahead late in the second half. The score was tied 65-65 at the end of regulation.

Houston's victory lifted the Cougars into the quarter-finals against Illinois State, which defeated Creighton 65-58 Tuesday night.

Oregon's Ernie Kent, one of four players assigned to defense Anthony Roberts, shouted "Unbelievable!" as he watched the Titans' star continually fire the ball through the basket.

Oregon took the lead after a 40-40 halftime tie as forward Greg Ballard scored 43 points, helping offset Roberts' one-man show.

In the Virginia Tech-Georgetown game, the Gobblers grabbed the lead on a layup by Marshall Ashford with 14:04 remaining. A drive by Ron Bell and two free throws by Phil Thieneman built the margin to 55-50.

Ashford hit 16 of his 24 points in the second half. Georgetown got a game-high 28 points from Derrick Johnson.

The Hoyas twice closed the gap to two points in the final three minutes.

Villanova, 21-9, trailed by as many as 11 points against the Monarchs but pulled even on a field goal by Whitey Rigby with 4:53 to go. A 20-footer by Old Dominion's Jeff Fuhrmann with 1:05 left forced the game into overtime.

In the extra period, Larry Herron's two free throws with 3:45 remaining clinched the victory for the Wildcats.

Houston led by as many as 10 points in the second half against Indiana State but the Sycamores outscored the Cougars 12-2 over a late three-minute span.

With one minute left, Indiana State's Larry Bird tied the score 82-82. With 37 seconds remaining, though, the Sycamores' Dan Rutledge fouled Mike Schultz, who made his first shot but missed the second. Bird got the ball under the basket but his jump shot bounced off the rim as the buzzer sounded.

Houston goes to the quarterfinals 27-7.

In other college basketball action, the University of North Carolina-Charlotte edged New Orleans 71-70 for the championship in the first Sun Belt Tournament. Jacksonville, N.C., rolled over Georgia State 102-72 in the consolation game.

Hick joins MAC stars

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Matt Hick, the Northern Illinois forward who led the Mid-American Conference in scoring and rebounding for the second straight season, was a unanimous choice for the all-league team.

The all-star first squad announced by the conference Wednesday also includes Ben Poquette of co-champion Central Michigan and Tommy Harris of Bowling Green, Archie Aldridge of co-champion Miami, and Burrell McGhee of Kent State.

The players were selected by MAC head coaches.

Second team choices were Chuck Goodyear of Miami and Tom Cutter of Western Michigan—both first team picks a year ago—Leonard Drake of Central Michigan, Toledo junior Ted Williams and Steve Skaggs of Ohio University.

Hicks, a 6-foot-4, 192-pounder, led the conference in scoring and rebounding with averages of 25.3 and 12.9, respectively.

Harris, 6-4, 180-pounds, was the second leading scorer in the conference for the second straight season with a 23.1 average. The 6-foot-5, 212-pound Aldridge was the leading scorer and rebounder for the MAC co-champions with 19.1 and 8.6 averages. Poquette, at 6-foot-9 and 235 pounds the biggest player on either team, was the second leading rebounder in the MAC, grabbing off 11.0 caroms for the Chippewas. And McGhee, a 6-foot-77, 190-pound sophomore, was the only league newcomer on the first two teams. The transfer from Michigan, playing his first campaign with Kent State averaged 19.8 points a game.

Green leads All-Big 10

CHICAGO (AP) — Rickey Green of Michigan and Mike Thompson of Minnesota were unanimous selections on the 1977 All-Big Ten basketball team announced today by The Associated Press.

All-American Kent Benson of Indiana missed being a unanimous choice by one vote of a panel of Midwest sports writers and broadcasters.

Tourney talk

Both county teams have made it through sectional tournaments and now turn their thoughts to district competition.

Washington C.H. hopes the Ohio University Convocation Center is as nice to them as it was to Miami Trace. The Blue Lions begin district play Friday, Mar. 11 against the Nelsonville-York Buckeyes.

Miami Trace heads for the campus of Marietta College to play on Friday, Mar. 11 also against the Cambridge Bobcats.

Tickets for either game can be purchased at the respective high schools and Blue Lion tickets can also be purchased at the Washington Middle School principal's office.

A's ace Blue among strangers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

Vida Blue will be on the mound when the Oakland A's open their exhibition season Thursday, but he should be excused if he does not relate to those other strangers in the familiar Fort Knox gold, kelly green and wedding gown white play suits.

Oh, he will recognize Claudell Washington in right field, but last year's infield of Gene Tenace, Phil Garner, Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando has given way to — ready now — Wayne Gross, Larry Lintz, Rob Picciolo and Tommy Sandt. Who?

In addition, Manny Sanguillen, who came from Pittsburgh in exchange for Manager Chuck Tanner, will be behind the plate, someone named Dennis Walling will be patrolling centerfield and Billy Conigliaro, out of baseball since 1973, will be in left.

"We want to see all the kids. The other guys have all season," said Jack McKeon, Charlie Finley's newest manager, explaining why his starting lineup will not include such holdovers as centerfielder Bill North or second baseman Phil Garner.

The first exhibition contest was played Monday and the heroes were more non-household names ... people like Mike Barlow, Mike Easler and Thad Bosley ... as the California Angels blanketed Fullerton State, one of the nation's top college teams, 3-0.

Barlow pitched three perfect innings, striking out six. Easler walked and scored a run, and Bosley, who stole 90 bases last year at Salinas in the California League, tripled and later scored.

The names figured to be more familiar today in the first game between major league teams. The Angels' Frank Tanana was to oppose Randy Jones of the San Diego Padres, the National League's Cy Young Award winner who is coming off shoulder surgery.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Cubs have settled on a successor to third baseman Bill Madlock, the two-time NL batting champion they traded to San Francisco. It will be Steve Ontiveros, who came from the Giants along with Bobby Murcer in that deal.

"He looks terrific to me," Herman Franks, the Cubs' new skipper, said of Ontiveros, who batted only .176 with the Giants last season.

In the contract department, the Padres signed third baseman Doug Rader, the Cleveland Indians satisfied outfielder Charlie Spikes and the Texas Rangers ended a minor salary skirmish with rookie second baseman Bump Wills.

However, the Indians also invoked the automatic renewal clause on designated hitter Rico Carty; the New York Yankees did the same to seven players, including first baseman Chris Chambliss, outfielders Roy White and Oscar Gamble, shortstop Fred Stanley and pitcher Dock Ellis; the Los Angeles Dodgers renewed pitcher Al Downing and outfielders John Hale and Glenn Burke, and the St. Louis Cardinals renewed outfielders Lou Brock and Bake McBride and pitchers John Denny, Bob Forsch and John D'Acquisto. Brock and D'Acquisto, however, reportedly have reached agreement.

Little League registration

Registration for the Washington C.H.-Union Township Little League program will be held Wednesday evening, March 16, 1977, at Grace United Methodist Church.

All youngsters who have not formerly participated in the Little League program here are required to be registered. A parent or legal guardian must be present.

The Washington C.H. Little League program is open to all residents of Washington C.H. or Union Township. Participants must be eight years of age on or before July 31, 1977, and must not be older than 12 as of that date.

The child need not attend the registration which will begin promptly at 7 p.m. Parents may register their child in the fellowship hall of the church located at the corner of N. North and E. Market streets.

All new Little League players must, however, attend the league practice session at 1 p.m. April 2 at Wilson Field located on Oakland Ave.

Those players who were on a team last season are considered to be registered and will be contacted by their coaches concerning participation this season.

The Little League program is divided into two divisions, the minor and major leagues. Younger children are eligible only for the minor leagues while older children are eligible for either. Details will be presented during registration.

Here's How

Home Energy Sources Explored

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Power companies are testing many new ways to bring less costly energy to consumers. For example, storing electricity in bricks at night for use the next day. The night rate would be cheap, explained W. Donham Crawford, president of the Edison Electric Institute, an association of investor-owned electric utilities.

"It's an idea that has been used in European countries for decades. In the morning the electric load comes back and the reduced rate is cut off. The method has not been used in the United States before because electricity always has been cheap, but now it is justified," he explained.

The project is being tested, he says, by the Green Mountain Power Corp. in Burlington, Vt., and the American Electric Power System which is field testing it in homes in areas

from West Virginia to Michigan. It works like this:

Two units of an electric thermal storage space heating system are positioned side by side — a conventional electric furnace and a British-built heat storage furnace containing a brick-like refractory core inside a heavily insulated metal cabinet.

From 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. the conventional electric furnace heats the home while the storage furnace is charging and storing heat for use the next day. At 7 a.m. both units cut off and for the next 16 hours, a blower moves air across the hot bricks in the storage core to provide heat for the home using electricity only to run the blower. At 11 p.m. the off-peak direct heating and storage cycle begins anew.

"It's an idea that would be a good use of energy if we become heavily reliant on electrical cars in the future," Crawford explains. At night you would plug your car into a storage battery.

"And if enough people could be persuaded to voluntarily use their electricity at off-peak times, avoiding the peak hours — 9 to 11 and 3 to 7 — the outlook could change, but it would probably be difficult to get people to do their wash at night or to shop at 9 p.m.," says Crawford, whose institute offers a booklet that provides 104 ways to use less energy.

"As it is now, every time a company must meet new demands, it must put in extra turbo generators even if they are to be used only a short time to meet those demands," he continued. "The whole point is that companies are trying to get more use out of existing equipment. If they could, the savings could be passed on to consumers," he said.

Tests are under way to control peak use in other ways with the agreement of customers.

A Detroit company has a signal that could turn off electric water heaters in homes. A Vermont power company is experimenting with a radio control system that might beam into a home when the burden becomes too great, "all pretty much on a test basis," Crawford notes. Such ideas might require new meters and other equipment which would be an added expense.

"Connecticut is using some nuclear power successfully. Many people are frightened of the word nuclear, but a year's waste from one plant represents a solid cube of about 3 feet by 3 feet and they are thinking about getting rid of it permanently," explains Crawford. He worked with the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission after naval service following his graduation from Annapolis in 1947.

The fuel is controversial because of radiation fears, he observed, "but you probably get more radiation from an ordinary house of masonry." Recently, seven states — California, Washington, Oregon, Arizona, Colorado, Ohio and Montana — voted for nuclear power, he points out.

In ten years it is expected "that more than 100 plants will have been built by 50 or so of the larger companies," he said.

Meanwhile, utility companies are exploring many possibilities of tapping new fuel sources. Experiments at Northeast Utilities include those with laser fusion that would use a fuel source found in ordinary water, solar energy, wind power, fuel cells — devices which produce electricity directly by chemical reaction and energy that could be converted from solid wastes.

A ROYAL INVITATION
NEW YORK (AP) — His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester, cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, on a recent visit here expressed appreciation for the hospitality shown by Americans to visitors to this country in its bicentennial year. He invited Americans in return to go to Britain next year to join in that country's celebration of the Queen's Silver Jubilee, the 25th anniversary of her accession to the throne in 1952.

The main celebrations, involving much pageantry, will take place in London in June. But there will be special commemorative events throughout the year all over Britain.

Woman charged by deputies

Vandalism suspect arraigned in court

A 22-year-old Leesburg area woman was arraigned Wednesday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court and placed under $2,500 bond in connection with a vandalism incident which occurred Monday in southern Fayette County.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported that Janet D. Kincaid, Rt. 2, Leesburg, was charged following an investigation by Chief Deputy Robert W. McArthur and Sgt. William R. Crooks. The investigation concerned a report from Robert Kincaid that his mobile home on Old Charleston Road had been entered and extensively damaged.

Sheriff Thompson reported that the trailer was partially flooded with water, furnishings were upset, and bottled food items were broken and poured about the residence.

Janet Kincaid was arrested Tuesday on the felony charge. She is currently being held in the Fayette County jail.

Vandalism to an occupied structure or its contents is a fourth-degree felony under Ohio law with a possible penalty of six months to five years imprisonment or a fine up to $2,500 or both.

Sheriff Thompson also reported that a 22-year-old Washington C.H. man has been arrested and charged with stealing a citizens band radio.

Jerry L. Brady of 603 Elm St. was arrested by Deputy Charles Wise following an investigation into the theft of a 23-channel radio from the Evelyn Brown residence, 392 Hickory Lane, on March 2.

Brady is now being held in the Fayette County jail. He appeared before Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case Wednesday and was fined $100 and sentenced to 15 days in jail.

Sheriff Thompson reported that the citizen's band radio was recovered.

The Washington C.H. Police Department is investigating a car battery theft.

Richard Keller, of Bloomingburg, told police officers that someone removed the battery from his auto while it was parked on Warren Avenue Wednesday.

Columbus man hospitalized;
burned starting camp fire

A 24-year-old Columbus man suffered second and third degree burns on his face and hands after he attempted to start a camp fire at the Deer Creek State Park camping area early Thursday.

Clarence C. Hicks, 24, of Columbus, was reportedly trying to start the fire with a tire and gasoline, when the gasoline ignited.

Hicks was taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital by the Fayette County Life Squad. He was later transferred to Mount Carmel Hospital in Columbus by a Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home ambulance.

He was admitted to the Columbus hospital and he is listed in fair condition.

Four elderly persons hired for weather-related posts

As a result of the recent fuel and weather crisis in Fayette County, four elderly residents are now employed.

The four persons were employed through the Senior Community Service Employment Program, headquartered in Columbus.

The program, funded through the U.S. Department of Labor, is sponsored by the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons.

William F. Gilcrest, project director for the Senior Community Service Employment Program, said the four workers 55 years of age or older were employed by non-profit organizations in jobs related to the community's fuel and weather crisis. The workers were required to meet certain income criteria and be residents of Fayette County.

The program provided only the funds for salaries of the enrollees. It was the responsibility of the community to locate the individuals who qualify and to locate agencies which could benefit from the program.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Gayle Mercer, manager of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services office in Washington C.H., and Mrs. Edith Milburn, employment service bureau interviewer and older worker representative, a number of eligible persons were screened for the program and interviewed.

The persons who qualified were required to successfully complete a physical examination. Dr. C.C. Lin, a Washington C.H. physician, administered the physicals to the four enrollees free of charge.

"The community response was great," said Mrs. Mercer. "As a result Fayette County now has supplemental help in thawing frozen water lines, repairing storm damage to buildings and grounds, repairing damaged walks, streets and roads, and doing other clean-up, fix-up work related to the weather crisis," she said.

One worker was assigned to the village of Jeffersonville, one to the Fayette County Helath Department, one to the Fayette County Courthouse, and one to Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Sanitarians face licensing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sanitarians, hired by local government agencies to inspect restaurants and other places that serve food, would have to be licensed, under a bill given lackluster 60-33 support by the House.

Sponsored by Rep. Frederick H. Deering, D-84 Monroeville, it aims at preventing untrained individuals from working in the field of environmental health.

But freshman Rep. Robert D. Corbin, R-38 Dayton, called creation of another agency Wednesday an "exercise in futility." He said he has attended a recent committee hearing considering a Democratic-sponsored bill that would eliminate 187 existing boards, commissions and bureaus.
